Residential taxes will rise with market value system

by MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

People who own lakeshore property will probably see an increase on their municipal tax bill if the county decides to adopt full market value assessment.

But elsewhere in the county, the majority of people's tax bills would decrease.

On Wednesday, county council was presented with an impact study on what would happen if county-wide property assessments were based on the value of the property using 1988 values. At present, each municipality uses various base years. For instance, Dysart et al uses 1978 values while Bicroft is the only municipality which already uses 1988 market values.

Under the new system, no new taxes are being created. Each of the county's 10 municipalities will still raise the same amount of money. However, within the municipality there will be shifts.

Because lakeshore properties have increased dramatically in value — an increase which is not reflected in the present assessment system — they will be contributing more to municipal finances.

It is possible that within a municipality, two people whose property has the same value are paying different taxes, the study shows. In Dysart, there is a person whose property is worth $105,000. He is paying $212 in taxes. Another person in the municipality whose property is worth $108,000 is paying $207. The person whose property is worth more is paying less taxes. If the proposed changes take place, the first property owner will pay $744 in taxes and the second will pay $766.

Municipal property taxes may shift $700,000 from commercial to residential property owners.

(The assessment office charts do not say who owns the property or give any indication of the property. So property owners cannot go to the municipal office to see if their taxes are among those which will decrease or increase.)

If the tax increase seems steep, this is because single-unit residential properties will no longer be subsidized by multi-unit properties and business/commercial properties.

To explain: The county has two options if it adopts market value assessment. Right now, there's about a 15 per cent differential between residential assessment and business/commercial assessment. (There is also a difference in the mill rate, but that practice will continue whether or not the county adopts market assessment.) Under Section 63, that differential is not allowed to change. If business/commercial properties were contributing $10-million to municipal taxes, they would continue to have to contribute $10-million.

Under Section 70, shifts within classes are allowed. So if lakeshore properties have gone up in value and commercial property values have remained the same, lakeshore owners will therefore see an increase in taxation.

Overall, if the county adopts Section 70, tax contributions from residential properties (single to multi-unit) will jump from $13,952,168 to $14,656,822, a difference of $700,000. Likewise, taxation from commercial properties would decrease from $1,661,260 to $957,426, a difference of $700,000. The same total amount of taxes is being raised, but in effect, commercial properties will no longer subsidize residential properties.

So with Section 70, the taxes for the two Dysart properties used as an illustration will increase dramatically. (A three-fold tax increase can be considered dramatic.) Yet at the same time, in the same ward there's a single-unit business that's worth $468,000. Its taxes are presently $5,802 but will decrease to $3,905 under Section 70, a decrease of 33 per cent.

Whether you want Section 63 to be implemented or Section 70 to be implemented therefore depends a lot on what type of property you own.

There are other types of issues tackled by the study as well.

New warden is ready to work

by MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

Although her hands will be on the scissors at many ribbon cuttings throughout the year, the county's new warden says her role is not just a ceremonial one.

"I'm not going to be strictly ribbon cutting and attending parades," says Carol Puffer, Lutterworth's reeve who was chosen by her fellow county councillors on Tuesday night to represent Haliburton County. "I'm here to work, I'm here to serve this county."

"I feel very, very strongly about doing everything I can to help implement goals. I'm here to do a job for this county and I'll do the best I can."

For the next year, Puffer plans to devote much of her time to her duties. Travelling the county can be exhausting enough, but she also sits on all county council committees. All this in a year which must tackle some of the toughest issues facing the area.

"The challenges are daunting," she concedes Wednesday in an interview after her first county council meeting as warden, but a note of enthusiasm and determination soon creeps into her voice as she describes how the county can face them.

Co-operation and communication are key elements, and she stresses that listening and understanding are vital parts of communication. Indeed, when asked what strengths she will bring to the job, Puffer says "the ability to negotiate and listen and understand what people are telling us, with the belief that the greatest good for the greatest number prevails."

And not just communication between councillors is important. There are going to be community programs whereby people other than politicians can add their voice and concerns to the discussions.

"We have to ensure public participation," Puffer says.

One area where this is needed is the development of the county's Official Plan. There has been much public and political confusion about what the county is doing as it proceeds to draft a county-wide set of development rules and guidelines.

"What happened as far as the chaos, or the flare up shall I say, was perhaps in our enthusiasm we were trying to move too quickly and weren't understanding the process."

"Confusion is not necessary. A lot of these issues are new to a lot of us as well, we're all learning. We know that's where we have to go but we have to make sure we take it slowly. The feedback we're getting is that obviously there are still areas of misunderstanding as to intent."

County planner Mark Stagg will visit each municipality to explain what he's doing and why, and the county committee structure is being changed.

Without a county plan, Puffer believes that everything people

Family man killed in snowmobile accident

A 26-year-old man from King City died after he was thrown off his snowmobile on the Iron Mine Road trail.

David John Wolf was snowmobiling with a friend at 7:30 on Saturday night. They were travelling along the Snowdon portion of the trail, which runs from Minden to Kinmount.

The OPP say Wolf was travelling at a high rate of speed when he approached a curve to the right. The snowmobile failed to negotiate the curve and went off the trail to the left, where there is a steep bank. The Polaris snowmobile went down the bank and collided with rocks. Wolf was thrown from snowmobile and landed on the partially frozen Iron Mine River. Wolf did not go through the ice but the snowmobile did.

The friend pulled Wolf on shore and then sought help. Wolf was taken to Minden Hospital by ambulance. Police believed he died at the hospital.

Wolf was married and police say his wife recently had a child.

Police are warning snowmobilers to stay off the lakes and slow down.

COMMITTED TO THE COUNTY: Haliburton County's new warden knows the next year will be a busy one. Carol Puffer, who also sits as Lutterworth's reeve, is looking forward to meeting the challenges though.

Longtime educator retires from BOE

Haliburton County's Director of Education is retiring.

Stuart Baker, who has been involved in education for the last 36 years, has no immediate plans following his retirement.

The board will advertise province wide for a new Director. The decision should be made by late April.

Baker has been director for the last six years. Before that, he was principal of Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden and a public school teacher.

hold near and dear about the Highlands could be lost.

"The big thing is it will protect our environment and this county and its natural beauty."

She points to Muskoka and Georgian Bay as examples of what happens when development happens before the people decide what type of development they want. "The environment has little capacity to sustain ad hoc growth."

In the last municipal election, every candidate was "for the environment"; Puffer is asked whether this was just political opportunism.

"The very fact that this council put time and effort into an economic development strategy plan (which recommended the Official Plan get underway) tells you we're serious about environmental protection.

"How can people living in this county not care about the environment? That's what draws us here — we've got something people from urban areas love and desire. If the county doesn't proceed with an Official Plan, the environment will be destroyed and overdeveloped."

"I just feel very strongly about that," she says, her voice acting as an illustration. "We've got to protect what we've got."

Another major program, which complements this concern for the environment, is the Waste Management Master Plan, which is just in its initial stages. It will determine the best ways for local garbage collection and disposal.

As well, as more services are demanded, the county must decide how to provide them.

When speaking of Haliburton County, Puffer refers to it as "our family of municipalities." She joined the family in 1985 when she was elected as Lutterworth's deputy reeve. In 1988, she was acclaimed as reeve, a position she revels in.

On Tuesday night's inauguration ceremonies, a great deal was made about Puffer being a woman. (She is the second female warden; the first was Myrtle Bamford in 1962.) Puffer puts a lot less emphasis on her being a woman than they do.

"Don't despair," she told her fellow councillors. "The only difference between a male warden and a female warden is just a comfortable pair of shoes."

This summer, Stanhope's John Gerber helped save the life of a little girl floating face down in Little Hawk Lake. Here, he gets an award for his bravery from Minden OPP Staff Sgt. Bill Elliott.

Local hero gets an award

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

WHO EVER SAID there are "no more heroes left in the world" has never met John Gerber from Stanhope.

Thanks to him and his brave neighbour, the late Louisa Kooyman, a two-year-old Hamilton girl is able to celebrate Christmas this year with her family.

On June 26th, Madeline Bied was playing on the shore of Little Hawk Lake. She and her parents were guests at the Gerbers' Little Hawk Resort.

Something happened and little Madeline slipped into the water.

A lady walking on the beach found the small girl lying face down in the shallow water near the shore.

The girl wasn't breathing.

The quick-thinking woman screamed for help and both Gerber and Kooyman immediately replied. While Kooyman performed chest compressions on the small tot, Gerber performed mouth to mouth resuscitation, a skill he learned by taking the St. John's Ambulance Course.

"My first thought was to get her out of the water and do what we can. It was a panic," he says.

They continued working on Madeline until the girl was able to breathe on her own.

In appreciation of their efforts, both Kooyman and Gerber received an St. John's Ambulance award for bravery. The ceremony was held November 6th, but Gerber could not attend. He was presented with his plaque on Wednesday afternoon at the OPP office in Minden.

BOE's agreement should ease high school students' minds

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

Leaving high school for college has never been easy — just ask any first year college student.

Thanks to a new agreement signed between the Haliburton County Board of Education and Sir Sandford Fleming College, local high school students may find the transition to SSFC much simpler.

Signed at last Thursday's new library opening at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, the Linkage Partnership Agreement hopes to eliminate the anxiety HHSS students have about going to college.

"Young people who are going off to college try to make it sound easy. But I'm sure many students are uneasy about leaving Haliburton," said Stuart Baker, director of education.

The agreement hopes to make HHSS students aware of what career options they have at SSFC. It will also encourage more effective use of sharing resources, both staff and programs. It is hoped college staff will be able to visit HHSS students to offer information and career counselling.

"We will be able to provide high school students who have their eye set on a specific career what high school courses they need in order to point them in the right direction," said Dr. Liz Ashton, SSFC vice-president of academics.

One of the agreement's main goals is to encourage high school students to stay in school and finish their education. This would hopefully improve the student success rate. Baker said statistics show close to 50 per cent of first year college students drop out.

"We hope to break down the barriers between the school levels," said Dr. Ashton. "We are all in it together and are working together."

"Anything that can help make the change easier is a positive step," added Rhonda Elstone, a member of SSFC's board of governors.

Committee to relieve youth boredom

Young people often say there are few activities for them to become involved in. A new committee is going to listen to their complaints and try to do something about them.

The Haliburton Social Action Committee is establishing a Community Recreation Committee. So far it's a committee of two — McKay Brydon, principal of Archie Stouffer Elementary School, and Mandy Newnam, who has much recreation experience.

New members are welcome, and needed. If people have some ideas they'd like to share, or want to help find those who do, please contact Gena Robertson at 457-1209.

Library use increases in county

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

The world is full of wonders and Haliburton County residents have been discovering many of them this past year at local libraries.

Library usage is up substantially this year as the general public discovers what the public institutions have to offer.

"People are realizing they can get more entertainment reading at the library than before," says County Librarian Joel Levis.

He estimates inter-library sharing between the county's nine branches is up close to 40 per cent from last year.

Part of this he credits to the Le Pac catalogue system in the Haliburton and Minden branches. The system connects these branches with 21 libraries across the province. If a person can't find a book on a particular subject in the county, Le Pac can help them try to find another library that does have what they are looking for.

Levis says many of the requests have been for some "high powered stuff". One gentleman was in the middle of building a violin, but needed a book on violin making to finish it off. Another request was made for a book on the ancient Irish language of Gaelic. Levis expects to satisfy this request will call for a book straight from Ireland.

"People have discovered that whatever it is, we can get it for them."

Increased hours of operation at county branches may have played a small part in the surge of usage, says Levis, but general interest seems to be the main reason.

The economy may play a role as well, theorizes Levis, as the public realizes checking out a book is a lot cheaper than buying it.

The angels and shepherds came out to Gooderham's Christmas Concert on Friday night at the community centre. The popular evening of song and skit continued a much-loved school tradition.

CONTRIBUTIONS ACKNOWLEDGED: At Friday night's Christmas Concert in Gooderham, Glamorgan Reeve Bob McCausland, left, announced that Ron Barr is 1990's Citizen of the Year in recognition of a lifetime of helping the community.

AHM reeve says 'No tax increase'

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

Minden's reeve is hoping for a zero per cent increase in the 1991 municipal budget and with everyone's co-operation, he thinks this goal can be achieved.

"There are problems to be solved but with a co-operative attitude, they can be," Ray Moore told his fellow councillors on Thursday.

Individual departments will have to realize that the people in the municipality cannot afford a tax increase, he said. Expectations will therefore have to be tempered with the need to put some projects on the back burner.

However, at the same time, "the opportunity exists to get a bigger bang for our buck and we should go for it." Provincial funds are available for special projects and the addition to the arena will create jobs. Because of the recession, tenders should also be more competitive.

And the staff's needs cannot be forgotten either. There will be "merit increases to those who deserve it."

"We're going into the recession in fairly good shape," Moore said. The municipality doesn't have "huge debentures eating up tax dollars" and roads, equipment and buildings are also in good condition.

"My belief is that regardless of (public) perceptions, this council has matured and is giving back to this community leadership," Moore said. One of the innovative programs he's initiated is a new administration and finance committee which will focus on the budget and people's requests for funds.

County's welfare cases on the rise

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

One doesn't have to look far to find signs of the recession in Haliburton County.

In November, 202 people asked the county's social services department for general welfare, up from 127 people the previous November. As well, there were 118 intake cases in November 1990 compared to 96 in November 1989.

Seventy per cent of these people are those who have never required social assistance before.

This means county taxpayers are faced with an existing $66,855 deficit, money which will have to be raised through the county levy. By fiscal year end, that figure could reach $85,000.

However, the province shoulders most of the extra caseload burden. Its share of the cost over-runs is $353,649.

"We are in trouble," Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy-reeve Bern Berry said when he made the report to county council Wednesday.

"This is general throughout the province," said Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis, who noted the Region of Durham's department was $6-million over budget.

The recession is being felt by other local organizations as well. At Thursday's Interagency Luncheon, it was noted that the Children's Aid Society's clients are needing more financial assistance to help pay for food and medical supplies. And more youths are turning to Futures, a job development program for people aged 16 to 24. As people are laid off, the ones with least experience are laid off first, and usually that means the youngest workers. As well, the program is running out of placements.

Moths move on to Drag, Mountain Lakes

The Gypsy moth has spread its wings to other areas of the county, including Drag and Mountain Lakes.

"There's a sufficient amount of infestation (at these two lakes) to warrant spraying this spring," Sherborne Reeve Don Shortreed said at Wednesday's county council meeting.

The infestation was first noticed in Lutterworth, but landowners and the county's Gypsy moth coordinator, Leonard Muntz, have found egg masses elsewhere. Come spring, it is estimated that 1,500 acres will be sprayed with a natural pesticide which kills moths only.

Four-hundred people have applied to have their land sprayed, and the deadline for applications is January 15, 1991. No applications for the 1991 spraying will be accepted after that.

Although the county is doing what it can to control the spread of the Gypsy moth, with the help of the Ministry of Natural Resources, Shortreed says more private individuals have to get involved.

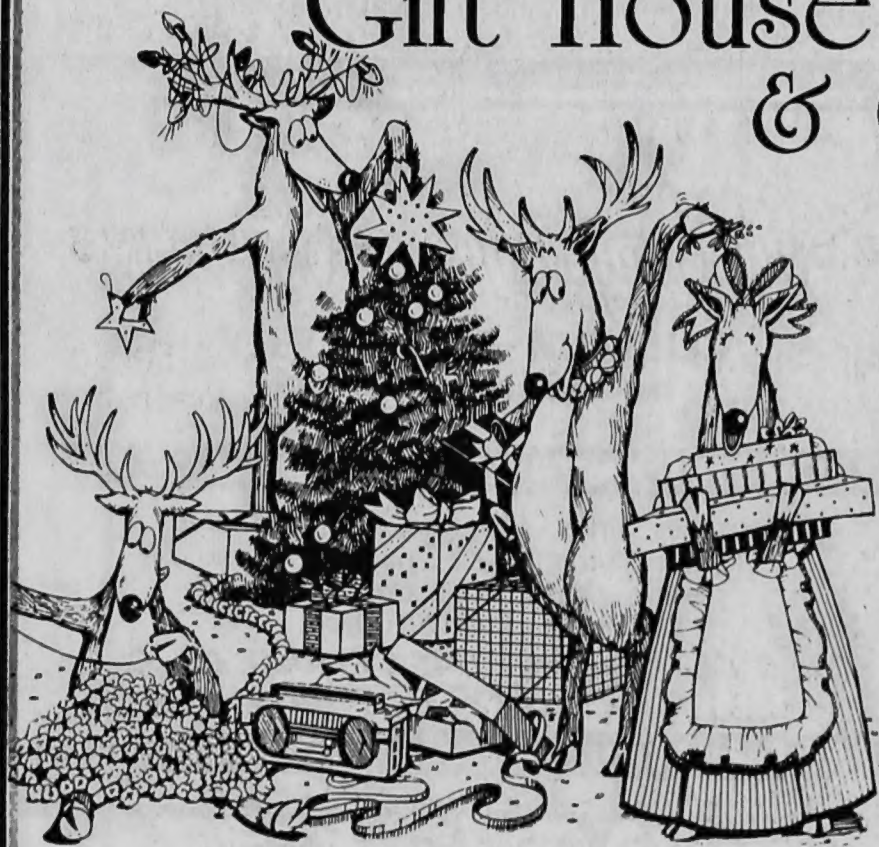

"Maybe we need open houses to educate the public on just what they can do. There are ways you can help control this yourself."

Cottage associations have already asked Muntz to make presentations at this summer's meetings.

Museum will have to help itself to get costumed staff

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

If the Minden Museum wants to hire two people to conduct tours next summer, it's going to have to trim its budget somewhere else.

Visits to the museum increased 600 per cent last year, thanks in part to Leo Dobrzensky's historical walks and tours of the museum's Stirling Bank and Bowron House. The museum board wants that number to increase even more by have a costumed guide on hand six hours a day, four days a week. (Volunteers would don the costumes and perform the duties on the other days.)

To do this, the museum will need $4,608 — $8 an hour for a season which runs from May to October. Stan Hill asked Minden council on Thursday if it would consider adding the money to next year's museum budget.

In effect, this would increase the museum's previous $9,000 budget by 50 per cent, said Councillor Mike Maher. Just minutes before Hill's presentation, Reeve Ray Moore said that in these economic times, council should be striving for a zero per cent increase in the municipal budget.

"I really have a problem with it," Maher said of the museum's proposed increase. "To do a zero per cent budget, we can't up one budget by 50 per cent."

"The timing couldn't have been worse. We have to look at budgets which will stay on line or have slight increases."

Last year the museum received almost $9,000 from the municipality and spent $3,000 of its reserve funds. It has just arranged to buy squared timbers which will be used to build a replica of the quaint Bethel Church, part of the museum's goal to build a tiny historical village.

"I think it's beginning to be a credit to the community," Hill said.

Costs were kept low because of the 5,000 hours volunteers spent at the museum, but committee members are getting tired and need the help of hired staff.

"I think the museum has come a long way and I'm proud of the way it looks," said Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry. "I would think also that this amount ($4,600) would be seriously considered but it may mean being $4,000 short in another project."

If the money were to be "a straight add on to your budget," Councillor Bob Sisson said he couldn't support it.

Hill said the $4,600 could be considered a good investment during the recession. "It's a low tourist time and you need every tourist attraction you can get."

Couldn't the museum charge visitors $2 or $4, Maher suggested. That way the money could be raised to pay for staff. Hill said "more money would be spent in town" by visitors who would be attracted to Minden because of the museum and wouldn't end their tour at the historical displays.

When Hill said he understood money would be tight because of the recession, Moore added "We also don't want the recession to go into a depression." Hiring locals to work at the museum would help prevent that.

The museum needs an answer soon because of deadlines for advertising hours in tourist publications. Council said the museum would have to advertise the hours as planned and if the money wasn't forthcoming from the municipality, it would have to find the money elsewhere in the museum budget.

THE FINAL CUT: The new HHSS Library Resource Centre was officially opened on Thursday night. Board of Education members toured the new facility and renovated office areas. Trustee Wendy Ladurantaye cut the ribbon with the ample help of Chairman Len Salvatori and Ministry representative Jack McFadden, right.

Ribbon is cut on new library

by BRIAN RODNICK

It took a year to build and 30 seconds to open.

Thursday night the ribbon was cut for the new library resource centre at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

But before the actual ribbon cutting ceremony, HHSS Principal, Peter Forgrave, conducted Haliburton County Board of Education officials and invited guests on a tour of the school's renovated areas.

It included a look at the revamped main office and guidance area, the resource centre and assembly room next to it, plus two new special education classrooms and the teachers' preparation area.

During the tour, board members appeared pleased their close to $1.3-million had been spent effectively.

Following the tour, Board Chairman Len Salvatori and Ministry of Education representative Jack McFadden held the ribbon across the library's main door while trustee Wendy Ladurantaye cut the ribbon.

MPP Dennis Drainville was invited to do the honors but was busy at Queen's Park.

After the ribbon was cut, McFadden presented Forgrave with a plaque from the ministry to dedicate the opening.

Old IGA rezoned again

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

Minden council has again agreed to temporarily re-zone the old IGA building for use as Archie Stouffer Elementary School's annex for primary classes.

The IGA building was re-zoned three years ago to handle the overflow of students from Archie Stouffer. At that time, objections were raised and an Ontario Municipal Board hearing was held to straighten out the problem.

Councillor Bob Sisson asked the Jim Bradley, the board of education's business administrator, how long the building would be needed by the school. Bradley said the board is still trying to get funds from the Ministry of the Education to build a new addition onto Archie Stouffer.

Although the public was invited to voice their objection at the meeting, no one was in attendance.

Project creates new jobs

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

Christmas has come a little early for the local foresters who will benefit from the province's initiative to spend $367,000 on five public works projects.

While their jobs won't start until the new year, Friday's announcement at the Ministry of Natural Resources comes at a time when many have already been without work for weeks.

"This is very welcome money," MNR forester Peter Hynard said at Friday's press conference when MPP Dennis Drainville made the MNR will mark which maple trees will be selectively cut by local foresters, thereby improving the quality of the remaining forest. This includes a total area of 380 acres, or 1,000 acres, although the individual stands are much smaller than that and are scattered throughout the district.

The second project is thinning and pruning second growth, natural white pine stands, for a total of 200 acres. This will improve the quality of the stands and help the trees grow faster, Hynard says.

As well, 70,000 trees will be planted in about 100 acres of cut-they should be used and protected," says Acting Director Bob Stewart.

The two projects here will "increase the quality of service" the centre can provide, as well as improve safety.

Local contractors will build a large conference room to one of the present buildings. "It's an area for adult groups to be able to better accomplish the goals of transferring information," Stewart says.

The second project here will be to build covered entranceways to many of the buildings. In the winter, water drips off the roof and freezes, causing dangerously icy situations. This should be avoided with the new entranceways. The work is also in preparation of providing access for disabled people.

To do the job, the Centre will hire two contractors for 12 weeks. The lumber will come from the private sector. This is work which was already planned but could not have happened as quickly without the surge in funds.

These projects are part of the provincial ministry's plan to spend $700-million "to renew public buildings and capital infrastructure, and to help workers and their families in communities affected by the recession," Drainville said on behalf of MNR minister Bud Wildman.

When asked if the government planned to "spend its way out of the recession", Drainville said that was not possible, especially with the surprise deficit of $2.5-billion.

"On the one hand, we have to maintain fiscal responsibility, yet also acknowledge recessions hurt people," the MPP said. "These initiatives are taken to lighten the blow and help them through the recession."

"These initiatives are taken to lighten the blow and help them through the recession."

announcement. "Our local forest industry is very much in a recession and has been for over a year."

Fewer housing starts and an overall decrease in demand for forest industries have cut the income of those people who work in the forests or mills. In the province, 4,000 forestry jobs have been lost.

The five projects, which will provide 405 person/weeks of employment, will be tendered out to private individuals or companies. This will give jobs to people who otherwise would be out of work, says Reg Raby, the Minden MNR's acting manager.

In one phase of the projects, the money will be used to improve forests in the district.

"Over 100 years of harvesting timber in this area without remedial action has left local forests in a somewhat deteriorated situation," says Hynard.

The main thrust will be hardwood stand improvement. The over areas. This will have to be done in the spring.

This work will also necessitate the building of access roads, which will primarily mean opening up old logging roads. This work will also be tendered out. "We want to be careful not to use government money to compete with private companies," Hynard says. It will be done in the winter because winter roads are less expensive than year-round ones.

"All of these are areas we'd thought of before but we would not have been able to do them right now because we did not have the funds," says Hynard. All projects are included in the recent timber management plan.

The second phase takes place at the Frost Centre, on Highway 35 near Dorset. It is a residential, natural resources educational centre and "its basic goal is to help the people of Ontario learn more about natural resources and how

Charges laid over animal parts

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

A year-long investigation has led to charges against five Harcourt area residents for the illegal sale of animal parts.

Including the five, four men and a woman, a total of 12 people from the Algonquin region were served Wednesday in a joint effort between the Ministry of Natural Resources conservation officers and the OPP.

"This is the first investigation of this size in the province," says Richard Stankiewicz, wildlife management co-ordinator for the MNR in Whitney, where a news conference was held.

The MNR laid 35 charges under the Game and Fish Act which prohibits the sale, possession or offering for sale parts of game animals. The charges stem from the sale of parts of three moose and 104 bears.

"Our investigation proved these animals were legally taken during hunting season," he says.

However, he is concerned that animals will be killed strictly for their parts and the rest left behind. He said several cases of this type have been reported near Sudbury.

"We are worried money will become too much of an incentive and individuals will start killing animals just for one part alone."

An average bear gall bladder sells for at least $75, and moose antler in velvet sells for about $15 a pound.

During the investigation, undercover MNR officials were able to purchase the above items, including deer meat.

They determined the majority of the illegal parts were being sold to buyers in the Far East who use the exotic items in medicines. Bear claws are often used for jewelry.

The 12 accused will make their first appearance in court February 21, 1991 in Killaloe. The maximum fine under the Game and Fish Act is $25,000.

UC will host a Blue Christmas

Christmas is not always a time of joy and family celebrations. For some, their personal circumstances and expectations of the season can lead to hardship and depression.

These people need a voice, too. On Friday, December 21, Minden United Church will be holding a Blue Christmas at 7:30 p.m.

It will be a time of prayer and meditation, says Rev. Ed Moll, who came up with the idea. Anyone is invited to participate.

Is there a will?

Political will is all that stands between the present system of assessing properties in Haliburton County and a much more equitable system which doesn't favour one municipality or property owner over another. If and when county-wide market value assessment is introduced here, property taxes are definitely going to increase for a majority of people who own property in Dysart et al, Lutterworth and Stanhope. No new taxes are being created — and no new funds are being raised — but the burden of present taxes will be shifted among individual taxpayers. Having more time to crunch the numbers won't change the fact that some people are going to be very upset if they lose the cushion of the present system, whereby some properties are assessed at 1978 values. Which politicians, primarily those in three of the largest municipalities, are willing to invoke the wrath of many people, especially with a municipal election year approaching?

The principles behind market value assessment are simple: If your property is worth $100,000 in Dysart and a friend's property in Glamorgan is worth $100,000 it stands to reason that both properties are assessed at $100,000. As well, just because a $100,000 building is used as a business, doesn't mean the owner should have to pay more because of it. A building that's worth $100,000 is worth $100,000. (Worth is determined as what a willing buyer would pay a willing vendor if the property was sold in 1988. The base year is updated every four years.) Every person in Haliburton County who owns a $100,000 property will be levied the same amount for county and educational costs; the larger municipalities will still pay a larger share simply because they have more landowners contributing to the pot.

Councillors are being given two options: Under Section 63, business/commercial properties will continue to subsidize the residential sector because they will have to pay the same ratio of taxes as before. (The philosophy that business owners are more wealthy than private landowners is unrealistic. There are school teachers who make more in a year than many downtown merchants.) Changes in taxation will be minimal because assessors are already using various factors to try to equalize municipalities which use various base years. With Section 70, those subsidies end.

The main flaw in market value assessment is it assumes people are willing vendors, that they do want to sell their properties. Many cottages have been handed down from generation to generation, and are likely to be retirement homes for many grandchildren yet to come. Thirty years ago you didn't have to have a lot of money to own a cottage. Today, your cottage may be the same old shack but the land is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. (Seniors will have the buffer of existing property tax rebates.) What if the grandchildren prefer holidays at Disney World and no one wants the responsibility of maintaining the cottage? If the owner decides to sell, isn't he going to want the best price he can get? Will he buy the argument it should be sold at 1978 values? And any buyer today knows when they buy that municipal and educational funds are raised through property taxes. Buyer, know your responsibilities.

Unfortunately, market value assessment cannot protect people from tax increases they cannot afford. But what about the 65 per cent of people in Monmouth whose taxes will go down if market value assessment is brought in? Shouldn't they be protected from having to shoulder more of the county government and educational costs than their neighbours in Dysart?

Why the rush to push market value assessment through, some people might ask. The rush is the interim tax bills, which are scheduled to be compiled in January. Clerk-treasurers need to know by then which system is being used, otherwise they are faced with massive confusion when the second tax bills are sent out. If the policy changes mid-stream, an inordinate amount of time and money will be spent figuring out each and every tax bill.

The only question politicians should be asking themselves right now is "Is it fair?" Not "Will this cost me my seat?" M.P.

Decision is unacceptable

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OUR READERS WRITE...

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to trustees of the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Four years ago, when the Board of Education announced its intention to ban smoking on school property, we enthusiastically applauded its vision and resolve. We feel the message about smoking to students must be uncompromising and non negotiable. Clearly and simply, no smoking on school property. Period.

The recent decision to ease smoking restrictions at school is unacceptable to us. At a time when most Canadians are not starting or quitting smoking in record numbers, we must target the anti-smoking campaign at the single segment of society that has not yet heeded the warnings about tobacco. This is the teenage smoker and in particular young female smokers. In fact smoking is on the increase in this group and a recent report from the U.S. cited greater numbers than ever before of young women diagnosed with lung cancer. Why then is our Board backing off when it would be pressing on with the original policy?

We read that the main reasons for this change have to do with traffic safety, potential damage to the historic locomotive and public image concerns. We disagree with this logic.

Surely road crossing hazards can be resolved in the usual manner that any busy pedestrian intersection demands, eg. sanding or cross walks; even a crossing guard would be better than letting the smokers back in school. As far as image and damage to municipal property are concerned, provide an alternative location, out of public view. Locate it a short distance from the school. A little bit of exercise-induced breathlessness or cough while walking there, might convince one or two of the need for healthier lungs!

A number of Board members felt students safety was being enhanced by allowing smoking back on school property. Not so! They have overlooked the grave consequences of societal permissiveness towards smoking.

In contrast to most of the weighty decisions that the Board must make, this debate should have been brief and simple. The Board ought to have maintained its original position without hesitation or argument. It erred in its judgement, and has welched on its promise to rid our schools of tobacco. If student health and well-being are truly important to this Board, then a "No smoking, anytime, anywhere" policy should be speedily re-instated.

Keep stores open

To the Editor:

Merchants stop your griping!

If the store owners of this town are not prepared to keep their stores open until 5:30 or 6:00 p.m. with less than twelve shopping days till Christmas, then it is no wonder that the majority of people who work until 5:00 p.m. plan to do their shopping in Lindsay, Peterborough, and Toronto.

Hats off to those few merchants who do realize the value of staying open an extra hour at this time of year.

Watch those videos

To the Editor:

The viewing of videos as home entertainment has mushroomed during the last decade. If used as a supplement to various other family activities we recognize their potential value. We also recognize the great challenge in selecting movies appropriate for families to enjoy together; the violence, offensive language and sex in many of the films available to-day desensitize our children and offer very unsuitable role models. An abundance of research says that we ARE affected by what we watch! Unfortunately, many children develop a distorted perception of the real world through an average diet of 5-6 hours daily of television/video. We commend those

IT'S BEGINNING to look a lot like Christmas and it won't be too much longer before the big day arrives. The crooners of the day are singing "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and by the looks of things their prayers will be answered. There is something about the Christmas season that seems to bring out the best in all of us in more ways than one. We all seem to be in a good mood in the days that lead up to Christmas and life seems to take on a whole new meaning. It's that time of the year when office parties are in full swing, house parties are on the go and some businesses treat their employees to the annual Christmas party. Have you ever noticed that during the Christmas and holiday season most of us seem to change into a different type of person than we have been throughout the rest of the year? It's also hard to believe that during most of the year we seldom have time to stop to talk with our neighbours and friends, but at Christmas time everyone seems to be a great deal friendlier, and others who seem to be too busy through the year, can finally take time out to stop and talk and shakes hands with one and all. This is also the time of the year when we take time to care for others. Wouldn't it be nice if we could put this sharing and caring into practice for the other eleven months of the year.

The HHSS Redmen High School hockey team is on a real winning streak and should prove to be a real threat in the play-offs that lie ahead. The next home game for the Redmen will be this Wednesday night, December 19 at the arena in Haliburton when they will take on the visiting Norwood team with game time slated for 7:30 p.m. Come out and cheer the Redmen on to victory. The Redmen will be off the blades during the Christmas and New Years holidays and won't be back on the ice until January 8, when they travel to Peterborough to take on Kenner. The following evening January 9th, they will return home to meet the Lakefield High School team.

Here, there and everywhere . . . It's "Open House" at the new offices of Bishop and Wilson Ltd. tonight, Tuesday December 18th, 1990 between the hours of 5 and 8 p.m.

Congratulations to Harry and Loretta Henderson of Haliburton who will be celebrating their 62nd Wedding Anniversary on Wednesday, December 19th. The couple who now reside at Parklane Apartments are still quite active and when it's nice weather Harry likes to get out for a walk and his favourite pastime is playing horseshoes.

During the holiday season we should seriously consider making it a rule that the "one for the road" is either tea or coffee, not beer, liquor or wine. I hope that by now everyone has the message that if you drink, don't drive and if you drive, don't drink. If you are drinking and thinking about stepping into a vehicle, think again, and don't do it. You could be an accident going somewhere to happen. The Ontario government keeps reminding us that only you can stop drinking and driving. If you are attending a party this holiday season, where drinks will be served, get a friend or hire a taxi to drive you home after it's all over, because if you don't there's a good chance that it will be all over.

It really bothers me to see an open or closed sign stuck up in the window of a retail store, gas station, restaurant or what have you. When you see a sign that says "Yes We Are Open", you have to ask yourself the question, "Why wouldn't they be open?". It all boils down to this, take the signs out of the window because if you are open, you're open and if your closed, you're closed.

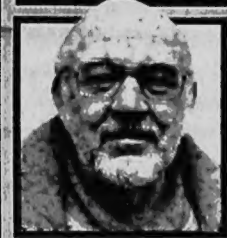

I was informed by a member of the Dysart council this week that the Haliburton Winter Carnival dates have been set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 15-16-17, 1991. The winter extravaganza which will be sponsored by the Haliburton B.I.A. promises to be good and you won't want to miss it. From time to time we will try to keep you in touch with what you can expect to see when carnival time rolls around. One of the main attractions and a first for the Haliburton Winter Carnival will be a Cross Country Ski Race which will be held on the Saturday of the carnival and will come down the main street as part of the race route. I have also been advised that the Haliburton Winter Carnival T-Shirts have arrived and are on sale at most Haliburton and area places of businesses. You are being reminded once again to leave your outdoor Christmas lights up after the holiday season and turn them back on during the carnival weekend. They will brighten up the village for the big event.

The children thoroughly enjoyed meeting Santa Claus in the lobby at Stedmans on Saturday. The afternoon sponsored by the Haliburton B.I.A. featured free horse drawn sleigh rides around town and a free movie "Prancer" at the Molou Theatre at noon. The B.I.A. are to be congratulated on sponsoring the afternoon of fun for the kids.

POINTS OF VIEW

Life is what you make it

AS OTHERS SEE IT

BOB GIULIANO

SELF PITY IS a very dangerous enemy. Feeling sorry for yourself can become a terrible habit. It is a secretive way of blaming God and the World for not making you happy. I get it enough to know some of its odds. I see it sometimes in others too and know its name: "Demon"!

A Demon is a bunch of feelings that are so strong you think they are real. When the Demon of self gets rolling in your head she is terribly convincing. It doesn't take long for her to paint for you a picture of your misery that justifies every sigh and complaint. Not only that the old Demon helps you feel like no one else ever suffered or could possibly understand. You become, in self-pity, very special, very alone.

Loneliness then feeds self-pity like a mother robin her gaping-mouthed young. This kind of loneliness is not in the category of the painful aloneness that all of us feel from time to time. This loneliness has a sneaky kind of unexpected pride in it. That great prophet, Elijah had a time like this. It was when he was hiding in a cave at Beersheba.

Beersheba is a Hebrew word that translates something like "the cave of the demons of the self." Self-pity is a kind of cave filled with self-attending spirits. Anyway, old Elijah had been very disappointed in God and super disgusted with God's people.

ple. On top of that he had discovered a terrifying cowardice, cold fear in himself that he couldn't master. He had run to the cave at Beersheba in fear and deep disappointment. He was exhausted. He was hiding and he was feeling like his whole life and work was wasted. Not an unusual feeling for many kinds of prophets.

God let the prophet rest in the cave until even the man himself had tired of it a little. He wanted to tell someone how he was feeling. We all do when we dwell in the cave of self. So he ventured out to look for someone to listen to him.

When he heard God say, "Elijah, what are you doing there?" Elijah spilled his guts. The whole story of his hard and faithful life poured out with the tears. God listened. God listens a lot. Elijah finally said, "Everyone has forsaken you except me Lord. I am the only faithful man left!"

That's the kind of pride that sneaks up on us in self-pity. "I am the only honest, faithful, whatever, person left and everyone is out to get me" or "no one understands me." Pick your own line. We all have our own special "I am the only..."

God's response is hard to translate or at least hard on English ears. Best translated, it comes out, (please forgive): "Bullshit, Elijah! There are 9,000 faithful people in your city alone." It appears God had lost patience with his prophet's hanging around the cave and called self-pity what it is.

Elijah came to this senses and got back to work. Not only that he joined hands with a lot of other battered prophets and together they did some mighty things in Israel.

It seems that for our own good, God is not a nice guy, but expects a lot from us, especially when things get tough.

This Christmas looks like tough times for lots of folks. Don't decorate your tree with those demons of the cave. Maybe the work of thanksgiving could get you over to decorate someone else's Christmas.

PIC OF THE PAST

Best memories aren't perfect

NORTHERN LIGHTS

VIRGINIA MUENZEL

CHRISTMASES PAST always come back to mind this time of year. Some of them I'd rather forget. But there are a few that we so special, for various reasons. Funny thing is, most special Christmas memories are not of times of plenty. Our first Christmas as man and wife was like that.

Ed was in the Navy, stationed in Bainbridge, Maryland. We had been married just three months. The off-base apartment we lived in was one third of an old converted farmhouse. It was wonderful. The living room had one over-stuffed chair and sofa of frayed and fuzzy burgundy upholstery and questionable origin. There were a couple of small tables and one floor lamp with a stained shade. The bedroom held a metal bed frame with the kind of springs we now use for our garden climbers, and a mattress that bore no resemblance to posture-peculiar or perfect-sleeper. Plus a dresser with sticky drawers. The kitchen had the usual old apartment refrigerator, wobbly wooden table and chairs, and a small stove which had worked fine until the day the lightning hit it and blew out all but one burner. The bathroom had the necessary facility plus a metal shower which we only used when the guy next door wasn't home. (He seemed to take some obscene pleasure in turning on his hot water every time he heard our shower running.)

Of course, we were newly-weds and none of that surface stuff mattered a whit. Ed worked in the commissary store. Food and gas were cheap, and fun was self-made. We were on a farm, so we walked all over the countryside, watched the birth of a calf, and some kittens. We were below the Mason Dixon line, so we enjoyed southern hospitality, watched the sky go black as a zillion starlings flew by, and got the creepy-crawlies when the spiders migrated.

For something special, we would drive up to southern Pennsylvania to a farmer's market and walk through miles of stalls each selling a different kind of merchandise. One of the few things we ever bought there was the root beer extract that would ultimately lead to our first born.

On one semi-wintery day, we drove to Ocean City, Maryland. It was my first glimpse of the Atlantic, and probably the reason I like walking beaches in late autumn.

Christmas was a small scraggly tree, one string of lights, a paper chain, a bit of strung popcorn, and a paper Nativity. I think we bought ourselves a Monopoly game plus one gift to each other. There was lots of Christmas caroling done with the navy crowd. Also a bathtub fruitcake bonanza to raise money for the really poor.

Christmas Eve, we shared our gifts, sat on our lumpy sofa by the lights of the tree, 'our first tree' and probably necked a lot. Life was good. Everything: Ed's sea duty, our future jobs, kids, homes, sorrows and joys were all yet to come. We had hardly a material thing in the world. But we had everything, because we had each other and our hopes for the future.

There was never a better Christmas.

Plugging in special lights

DOWN OUR ROAD

SHARON LYNCH

"IHOPE the magic starts soon," Mark said to himself, his fingers numb with cold. He was fumbling with the outdoor lights, stringing a line across the top of his porch. The sun had just about disappeared behind the hills, turning the sky to a boiling cauldron of molten lava. Unfortunately, there was no heat in its colour and the dropping temperature had turned the cords of lights still and stubborn to the touch. Despite his gloves, Mark's fingers were no longer a part of him as they refused to do his bidding manipulating the bulbs, wire and staple gun. It was taking a long time to get this job done and he now had as much Christmas spirit as the sand pile at the bottom of his driveway.

After more cursing and two broken bulbs, he finished. Stamping his feet outside the door to shake off the snow, he looked at the wreath hanging on his door. It did nothing to Mark, for his heart was cold and heavy due only in part to his freezing fingers. This year there would be no one to help him celebrate Christmas. Neither of his two children would be coming home. His son was a new father and did not want to travel north with his young family. The older daughter had moved to Vancouver in the fall and couldn't afford to fly back for the holidays.

The box of Christmas decorations stared at him by the hall table. He didn't really feel like putting up any more Christmas trappings. He just wasn't in the mood. However the box was already out and maybe, just maybe, the indoor lights and gilded, tinsely things would change his black mood. So he got to it, more like a person hacking away at a rock pile than someone festively trimming their home for Christmas.

Joe noted that this was the first cold night in weeks and with the lack of any wind, this just might be the night the lake would freeze. "I hope you're right," said Mark. "It won't feel near as cold living beside the lake once it's frozen. And then it will finally seem like winter, once we can walk out on the lake. Can you hear it moaning and groaning down at your place, Joe — when it's frozen I mean."

"Sure can. Wouldn't be winter without that big sleeping glacier talking to me at night," laughed Joe, who always had a way with words. "Remember that time about ten years ago when the new people had bought that place out on the point? Well I told them about the ice and snowmobiling and all the other stuff that goes on up here in the winter, but I didn't think they believed me. So during the Christmas holidays, I took them for a ride at night. I wanted them to hear the lake and see what it was like to zoom along on one of our trails. Unfortunately, I just about scared them off the lake, snowmobiles, winter and particularly myself."

"What happened?" asked Mark, leaning forward in his chair. "This must be one I never heard before."

"Well we set out across the lake heading east," began Joe, "but what I didn't realize was how far we had gone when we noticed our gas getting low. It being night and the first time I had been out that year, I misjudged the distance. So it was a little nerve-racking to say the least when we weren't sure whether or not we were going to make it to the next fill-up point. It was 22 below zero that night. The first place we stopped had gone out of business, the second place wouldn't serve us at that hour and we just limped into the third on a wing and a prayer."

"Then on our way back the oil light on one of the machines came on. I had to syphon some oil out of my machine and into the other which is quite a trick at 22 below. And just to keep the whole thing interesting, I got lost and we spent an extra hour trying to decide what direction to go. The others didn't know how scared I was at that point, because they were still brand new to snowmobiling and didn't realize what a jam we could be in if we got lost and ran out of gas out in the middle of nowhere on a night like that. My wife just about killed me when I finally got us all home at four in the morning. It was quite an introduction for those fellows but I hear now they make that trip regularly. They've never asked me to join them on that particular run though. Can't imagine why."

Mark laughed at the thought of Joe getting turned around and low on gas. He was probably the last person you'd expect that from. Not that it would have been even slightly funny at the time. But the way Joe told it, rolling his eyes, spreading his arms wide, lowering his voice and raising his eyebrows; all this made the tale so clear and real and yet so ridiculous at the same time.

"Good old Joe," thought Mark. "He's always so entertaining." He poured two more egg-nogs and Joe was off on another tangent. Mark's mind wandered at one point as his eyes slid over to the lit-up window. The approach of Christmas was no longer something he dreaded. More of his friends and neighbours, people like Joe, would be dropping by. The house had been transformed into a bright and cheery refuge for a brief time of the year and the company of others would renew his love of life and friendship. Mark felt better than he had all week. The magic had returned.

1990's offbeat round up

HARVEY CLARKE

THE DAYS DWINDLE DOWN to precious few, and it's time to windup the roundup of this year's offbeat classics. In many ways, it's been a banner year. Some funny items, some sad, some just plain weird.

Telephone call of the year: that was the one to 911 in Montgomery County, Virginia. After getting ten calls, one after the other every time she hung up — but no voice on the line — the dispatcher traced the calling number and sent a team of officers.

No one was home, but they finally traced it to an over-ripe tomato in a wire basket, dripping juice into an answering machine. The owner said she didn't know answering machines could dial out, (and neither did I).

Religious Trend of the year: Prayers for modern trials. We probably should have seen it when English replaced Latin for the Catholics, and guitars replaced organs in other churches. Now there are prayers for substance abuse, divorce, and even such life cycle events as 40th birthdays. There's even one for blessing offices — something that might come in handy at The Echo, of a late Tuesday evening.

Plant of the year: Let's hear it for the citrosa — a Dutch hybrid plant genetically designed with Haliburton County in mind. It's a cross between something called the grass of China, which gives off a citronella odor, and geraniums. These give it the power to spread its smell for from six to ten feet.

The good news: One plant to a room keeps mosquitoes and blackflies out — or ten feet away outdoors. People take the plants out in their boats with them while they fish!

The bad news: They grow to five feet, release a strong lemony smell and, like geraniums, must be brought in in the winter. Looks like they'll have to find a way to cross them with something harder.

Dumb Crook of the year: A lot to choose from in this category, but the going-away winner had to be the bank robber in Penticton, B.C., who got three years in jail when he was caught after robbing the Canada Trust branch there. Seems he wrote the holdup note on the back of one of his own deposit slips, account number and all.

Lucky Crook of the year: Shawn Thompson out in Calgary, who could get a sentence of up to three years for cocaine and marijuana trafficking, found he'll have $1.2-million in lottery winnings — plus interest — to spend when he gets out.

Offbeat prize of the year: Radio stations have been giving them away for years, but now that teen music is a TV event, MTV, the 24-hour rock channel in the U.S., is giving away — a radio station! Winner of the write-in contest will be flown to Thomasville, Georgia, and handed the keys to 5,000 watt WSTT, plus $10,000. On hand will be rock star Billy Idol to act as first guest deejay.

Feminist comment of the year: From Barbara Ehrenreich, the author of the recently published The Worst Years of Our Lives, who wrote: "I was terribly embarrassed when my second child turned out to be a boy, but I was able to calm my more radical friends by promising to raise him as a girl."

Driving test of the year: Taken last January in Kitchener, by Ellen Demerchant, 22, giving the examiner 'the ride of her life,' when she drove straight through red lights. Then, when told she should return to the office, started speeding down the wrong side of the road. The examiner escaped by shutting off the ignition, for which she got punched several times before Demerchant started the car up again and tried to run her down.

Unlucky passenger of the year: It's got to be Rosalie Searles, in Unadilla, New York, who got run over twice in one day. Stopped in a car at 2:30 parents who scrutinize and limit their children's viewing and we encourage others to investigate the values being taught by these powerful influences.

Videos shouldn't be on kids' eye level

Our second concern involves the display in some of our local video-rental outlets of video jackets with sexually explicit pictures. We feel it is harmful for these "restricted" movies which usually demean and exploit women to be placed on shelves at children's eye levels. Although we find these films offensive and degrading to both women and men, we realize it is presently legal to sell or rent them. We strongly urge owners/managers of local video outlets to examine their displays and make inaccessible to children those titles restricted for adult use.

1990 is an especially challenging time to be raising and teaching children. Although it is difficult to protect children's innocence, if we value this enough we can make appropriate choices for them. People choosing a video from a local outlet should let the management know of their approval or disapproval of the content and display of the material. Businesses usually try to please customers... if they are aware of their concerns.

On behalf of Haliburton County Women Teachers Association, Sharon Harrison, President.

HOCKEY'S UPS AND DOWNS: When you're a Tyke and you're just learning how to play hockey, you get quite a bit of time on the ice, though not all of it with skates under you! The parents have as much fun watching as the kids do playing and that's what makes Tyke hockey so enjoyable.

Tykes take to the ice in three mighty big matches

On Saturday December 8, 1990 Haliburton Tri-County Major Tykes travelled to Minden and again came away with a decisive 5 - 1 win.

Scoring for Haliburton was Chris Petrow with a pair of unassisted goals, singles went to Jeff Wilson assisted by Morgan English, Warren Cooper unassisted, and the final marker by Mathew Gerry assisted by Morgan English. The hometown boys were treated to the usual strong net minding by Travis Bain who has made his mark by being the leagues current number 1 goalie.

Other team members on the road teams were Jeremy Mieske, Ryan Chalmers, Darren Kirkpatrick and Joel Cooper.

On Saturday Dec. 15, 1990 both Haliburton Tri-County Tyke teams played host to their rivals from Minden in what proved to be two fast paced, high scoring games, that saw Haliburton victorious in both matches.

In game one, the Minor Tykes with assistance from Morgan English and Mathew Gerry from the major tykes, went on a tremendous scoring binge that saw ten unanswered goals before the final whistle.

It's just the facts from these games

THIS WEEK IN THE M.H.L.

by: CHIP TRUEMAN

DUE TO A CHANGE in deadlines over this holiday season, my time is limited this week so I will have to stick to the facts, the whole facts and nothing but the facts. If I start to ramble, give me a nudge.

Roberts-Austin's woes continued this week as they went down to defeat once again. Curry Motors bet the oilmen 8-5. The brothers Hodgson netted four goals for Curry's, followed by Ryse Jenkins, Ken Riley and Steve Barker. R-A points came from Erin Nichols, Steve Roberts, and Wade MacIness. I don't know if you could actually call this game an upset. Both teams were pretty evenly matched. In fact they now share the same spot in the standings.

In game two, hat tricks by Tim Davies and Gary Burch helped Youngdale's Fuels overtake Emmer-son Lumber by a score of 9-3. Tom Curry, Glen Scully and Tim Chambers were also part of the Oilmen's nine. Darell Stamp and Rick Wood scored

Wins prove teamwork pays off for Redmen in 6-2 and 4-1 games

Improved teamwork is starting to pay off for the Haliburton high school Redmen hockey club. They have now skated to three consecutive wins, and should add quite a few more points to the win column if they can keep clicking as they did when they faced Adam Scott and Port Hope last week.

Last Monday the Redmen were at home against Adam Scott from Peterborough and recorded an impressive 6-2 win despite game misconducts to five Redmen and an equal number of Adam Scott players that left both benches short on regular rotations.

Corbie Kent paced the Redmen attack, scoring two goals. Other marksmen were Wyatt Nesbitt, Kyle Hewitt, John Vuksic and Jason Billings.

On Wednesday the Redmen were once again at home, this time to take on Port Hope. The local boys dominated play, paced by two goals from Jason Billings and singles from Greg Stamp and Jamie Dollo. Port Hope was held to only a single goal, which came in the third period, giving Haliburton a 4-1 win.

On Monday the Redmen were scheduled to travel to Lakefield, while on Wednesday they'll be at home once again to take on Norwood. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the Dysart arena.

tle sounded. Scoring for the Minors with pairs were Mathew Gerry, Chris Bishop. Jeff Packard and Jason Chambers. Single went to Morgan English and Jamie Sala. Assisting on the long list of markers were Jeff Packard with five, Cory Sisson with five, Morgan English with two, Mathew Marlin with two, Chris Bishop with three, Jamie Sala with two and Jason Chambers with one. Outstanding goaltending by Ryan Goldberg earned him a well deserved shutout. The Minor Tykes are coached by Bill Mulholland and Greg Bishop.

Game two, as we stated earlier, was another great crowd pleaser for the hometown fans. After the dust had settled, the Major Tykes skated away with a 12 - 4 victory.

Scoring for the Major Tykes was Jeff Wilson with an impressive five goals, Darren Kirkpatrick earned himself a hat trick with singles going to Ryan Chalmers, Warren Cooper, Chris Petrow and Mathew Gerry. Assists on the goals were Morgan English with three, Mathew Gerry with three, Jeff Wilson with three, Chris Petrow with two, Derren Kirkpatrick with two, Warren Cooper and Ryan Chalmers each with one. Other members who helped their team to victory were Joel Cooper, Andrew Sachs and Alex Ambridge. Excellent net minding by Travis Bain has become something now expected regularly by his team.

This may be early in the season but from all indications the team could very well be the team to beat.

Coaching the Major Tykes this year is Blair Cooper and Brian Sachs. Thanks go to the coaches whose efforts speak for themselves.

Students show council how to save environment

by MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

The students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School had a few things to teach Minden council last Wednesday morning.

In a wide-ranging half-hour presentation, two dozen students outlined the problems facing our environment and gave suggestions on how to deal with them.

"We are not trying to solve the world's environmental problems but we're trying to get involved," Grade 8 student Shaun Turner told the councillors. "This is what we call our collaborative period."

By that, Shaun meant the students want to unite forces with people in the community to meet its recycling needs. Garbage and what to do with it has become one of the most pressing issues of our times, and the students don't want to be left out of the solution process.

In fact, they may be leading it. At school the students already recycle and they have visited the landfill sites to see what is being done there as well. Then they offered alternatives to throwing things out, including recycling — using a composter or buying unbleached, recycled paper — reducing — learning not to buy the over-packaged products or putting two memos on one piece of paper — and re-using — finding another use for waste.

"We've quite a few problems to work out before we put this into action but we have something to start with," said teacher Bernie Davis, who along with Bonnie Lee Berry and other teachers, is facilitating the students' urge to do something constructive. "If they have a perception of an opportunity, it's up to them to look into it. They don't always expect adults to have the answers."

The adults on council decided to help them along by agreeing to purchase a plastic compost cone for the school. Councillor Mike Maher challenged other councils to do the same for organizations in their municipality.

After being thanked for their presentation, Mrs. Davis said "the key part is the invitation. Once the students feel they're valued, it's an incentive for them to do the extra work."

Preparations for the presentation had to be done in addition to regular school work, and that's not always easy. However, as adults, "the more you value what they do, the more they value the time to do it."

Novices' winning streak continues

All good things must come to an end, or must they? In the case of the Haliburton Tri County Novice hockey team, the end of their winning streak is not yet in sight. In fact, the team has won every game so far this season, and they show no sign of letting up.

More facts and matches

for Emerson Lumber.

Haliburton Lumber had some fun in game three as they overwhelmed Bishop and Wilson 14-1. Ron Yake accounted for six HL's total. Also making their mark where Norm Barry, Neilson Sisson, Greg Carpenter, Frank Powers, Wade Stamp and Randy Bird. The only player able to beat George Schmid was Tran Larue. The loss was a sad one for B & W. After their tremendous win last week, the surveyors are right back in the dungeon.

Any team who can hold the first place team to a mere four goals (one on an empty net) should be honoured. That is what Elstone Motors did to Vasey Insurance on Sunday night.

By a score of 4-1, Vasey's got the win, but Elstone's got the VICTORY if you know what I mean. Goal getters were: Kevin Phillips, Glenn Fick, Drew Carey and Dan Ambridge for the brokers; Greg Bishop for the motormen.

That's it for the next few weeks sports fans. I'll be back in January. I hope everyone has a safe and Joyeux Noel. I'm Chip and that was . . . THIS WEEK IN THE M.H.L.

On Saturday the team travelled to Cannington and doubled the home squad 4-2. Andrew Brown and Adam Henry each scored two goals to ensure the win. Shane Campbell had two assists, while Logan Roberts and Graham Schakelaar each had one assist.

Other key players in the winning effort were Adam Wilson and Kyle Robinson on defense, and forwards Scott Cutty and Ryan Kirkpatrick. Good goaltending by Kori Roberts kept Cannington trailing.

On Sunday the team was back on the road in Little Britain, skating to a 5-2 victory. Andrew Brown netted two goals, with singles being added by Adam Henry, Shane Campbell and Scott Curry. A solid team effort from Graham Schakelaar with two assists, Adam Wilson, Jamie Doan, Logan Roberts, Kyle Robinson, Ryan Kirkpatrick, Danny Koz, and goalie Kori Roberts.

Rotary offers the gift of sight at Christmas

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

What are you giving for Christmas?

If you have no idea what presents to buy, why not send a card?

The Haliburton Rotary Club is supporting a campaign called Operation Eyesight Universal which hopes to provide much needed cataract operations to the needy in Third World countries.

In the Third World both young and old suffer from cataracts due to their living conditions and diet. To help pay for the operations, the Rotary Club is selling Christmas cards for $25 a piece.

When you buy a card, the Rotary will send it to the person of your choice and on the inside will be the name of the person who received a cataract operation, thanks to your donation.

"This is kind of a unique plan to have around at Christmas time," said Rotarian Dale Robinson.

So far, among their members Rotary has raised over $1700. They hope to raise close to $5000 by July 1st through the card campaign, a snowmobile rally and a benefit dance.

If you are interested in sending a card, please contact a Haliburton Rotarian.

Assessment wouldn't vary across county taxes between municipalities is already being used, there are inequities.

The impact study found that using a $75,000 property as a benchmark, Bicroft taxpayers are paying $54 each for the county levy and $439 in school taxes, for a total of $493. (Municipal levies will always differ because each municipality offers different services and drafts its own budget.) Over in Stanhope, the $75,000 property owner is paying $47 in county taxes and $285 for school taxes, for a total of $332. Even though both properties are equal in value, the person in Bicroft is paying $161 more in county and school taxes.

With the new system, everyone who owns a property worth $75,000, regardless of where they live in the county, will pay $59 in county taxes and $328 in school taxes, for a total of $387. Therefore, taxes in Bicroft will go down, while taxes in Stanhope will increase. Please see chart for details on other municipalities.

(The present method of apportionment would not change. Dysart would continue to pay approximately 34 per cent of county and school taxes simply because there are more taxpayers in the municipality.)

If you looked at a map, this change in Stanhope's taxes could be easily explained: there are many lakes in Stanhope, just as there are many lakes in Dysart and Lutterworth, the two other municipalities where a majority of people will see their taxes rise. (Please see chart.)

When explaining to county council why his ministry is supporting the changes to assessment methods, Jack Lettner, the Ministry of Revenue's assistant deputy minister for property assessment, gave the following reasons:

□ to ensure that every property of comparable market value will be assessed on a similar basis;

□ thus, all commercial and industrial properties of comparable market value will pay the same county and school taxes regardless of location within the county;

□ similarly, all residential and farm properties of comparable market value will pay the same county and school taxes regardless of location within the county.

As well, under the new system, tax bills will be far more easily understood. Using the Dysart example of the $105,000 property, the present assessment on the bill says $237. The new assessment figure would read $105,000.

Does this mean municipalities will therefore collect a lot more taxes? No. Each year, a municipality's budget may go up, but when all the department budgets are added up, it only needs to raise a certain amount of money, let's say $1-million. If the assessment values are up, the municipality will correspondingly lower the mill rate so that in the end, only $1-million is raised.

"This program makes assessments fair, understandable and defensible," Lettner said. "Market value is more easily understood since ratepayers are generally away of the value of their properties. This knowledge allows them to determine the fairness of their assessments by comparing these to their market values."

Because the ministry recognizes the real estate market can hit peaks and valleys, when determining the 1988 values, assessors will also take into account 1987 and 1989 values. With this system, the values must be updated every four years.

"It will lessen the need for appeals," Lettner added. "Fairer assessments will also reduce the success rate of appeals. Thus, the erosion of the county's tax base is also prevented."

Minden Deputy-reeve Bern Berry asked if Lettner could meet again with councils, apart from the open houses held in Minden and Haliburton on Monday and Tuesday. Councillors would "want to get at the meat of the thing rather than have it out at a public meeting table."

Lettner said the two open houses should provide sufficient opportunities for discussion and suggested holding a special meeting for the clerk-treasurers who have to implement the system. This meeting is Thursday morning at the county office.

There is no deadline for adopting market value assessment although interim tax bills are scheduled to go out in January and it will be very confusing if the system is adopted after that.

WEATHER WATCH

Believe it or not, winter is arriving this Friday

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

Old man winter isn't here yet, and won't be until Friday. To be precise, he will arrive at 10:07 p.m., says local weather watcher Jim Elstone.

Until he gets here, the weather will be slightly unsettled as temperatures rise and then fall.

For today and tomorrow, we can expect above normal and normal temperatures, with lots of precipitation in the form of rain or snow. The average temperature for this time of year should be around -7 Celsius during the day and -15 Celsius at night.

But for Thursday and Friday, Elstone predicts temperatures will fall slightly below normal. However, the heavy precipitation experienced earlier will taper off.

For the weekend we can expect a warming trend, with the chance of a great deal of precipitation. But Elstone says this is only a slight possibility as weather watchers keep their eye on a Pacific storm.

But for all those who want a white Christmas, Elstone says you're in luck. A quick look out the window will verify this.

Regardless of how much snow falls on December 25, it will not compare to what happened Christmas Day in 1872. That is when Toronto received a record snow fall of 58 cm, which must have given new meaning to the phrase "white Christmas".

Religion may be back at schools

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

Religion could be taught in Haliburton County elementary schools in as little as 18 months from now — if the board of education wants it.

A new Ministry of Education policy calls for no more than one hour of religious training a week, and all religions must be taught. It is expected to take at least 18 months before the religious training can be worked into Ontario public school curriculum. But the decision on whether to institute the training will be up to each board.

"Our board has ample time to look at the guidelines of the policy," said Director of Education Stuart Baker.

The local decision should depend on whether or not students' course load can handle it, he added.

"In Grades 7 and 8 we present to students far more demanding courses than before. Are we not frustrating students more?"

Baker was concerned the students could become "burned out" if another course was added to their 11- or 12-class schedule.

He said in college and university, most adults only take 5 or 6 courses at one time. "It's very trying for them to keep their courses straight."

The policy affects both public elementary schools and secondary schools. Catholic separate schools have had their right to teach religion written into the Constitution.

The word in Minden will be mush

It will be off to the races once again now that the Minden Sled Dog Derby has earned another hearty endorsement from council.

"We don't mess with something that's good," said Deputy-reeve Bern Berry when Val Loughheed made her annual presentation to council on Thursday.

"This event has captured the hearts of everyone in the community," said the popular derby's organizer. "We haven't had any negative feedback, just offers for help."

Two-hundred-and-forty teams of mushers and dogs, some of them from as far away as Alaska and California, will arrive in Minden for the January 12 and 13 races.

With the sponsorship of Martin Pet Foods of Elmira, the $25,100 purse and $16,900 in merchandise will only be part of the incentive. Val and Steve Loughheed began the derby seven years ago, and the professional way it is run and the quality of trails also attract the mushers. The races start on the main street much to the delight of thousands of people who come to watch.

When the races began, the municipality donated $1,500 on the understanding that each year the amount would decrease. This year, council was only supposed to donate $883.75, but councillors quickly raised this to $1,000.

Family pets will have to miss sled dog races

There's someone in Minden who's prepared to take a lot of heat in January when the sled dog derby comes to town.

For the first time, organizers have engaged the services of a Pet Control Officer. "Pet" doesn't refer to the well-trained dogs which will pull the sleds along the showy course, but the dogs of a more domestic kind.

Because the race starts on the main street and spectators can get quite close to the action, in the past there have been many problems with pet dogs distracting the racing dogs. Pet owners are asked to keep their animals at home or in the car, but many bring them along to "catch the drift."

When Minden council was told of the new position, councillors expressed admiration for the person who was brave enough — not to control the pet dogs, but to ask their owners to use a bit more restraint.

BOE rejects offer to buy part of Archie Stouffer School land

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

The board of education has decided against selling a piece of land belonging to Archie Stouffer Elementary School because it may be needed to expand the school.

The Staanworth Non-Profit Housing Committee offered to buy three acres of land near the school's playing field to build a 20 unit family housing project. The committee recently received preliminary approval from the Ministry of Housing to begin looking for a site.

They offered the board $150,000 for the land, but the board wants to hold onto it. "We are in the process of putting together a building plan (for the school's new addition)," said Business Administrator, Jim Bradley. "Please keep in mind how much land we need."

Bradley said the price Staanworth was offering would match only 5 or 6 per cent of what the addition would cost. The board agreed the land was too important to sell off.

One of the members of the Staanworth Committee, Gerald Bain, said the committee's search for a building site has just begun. "We are only in the selection process. We have identified a number of building sites."

Stanhope will sponsor a work project

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

A job creation program developed by Canada Manpower to provide four jobs in Stanhope has been given support by council. The project will run 16 weeks beginning February 18th. The four will work at various jobs connected with the tourism and creating more public awareness about the environment. They will be hired by the Leslie Frost Natural Resource Centre in Dorset. They will be asked to do a variety of duties, including taking fish inventories and compiling the information. Council agreed to sponsor the program which hopes to encourage the four workers to get off unemployment. The four will receive their weekly unemployment funds as part of their weekly salary and will be chosen through regular channels from manpower.

WISE WORDS: This poster was spotted near the door leading to the playground at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. It's a rather unique way to get a message across, but a very timely one as well.

Council withdraws its landfill subsidy request for Little Hawk

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

Stanhope council will withdraw its original subsidy requests in the proposed expansion of the Halls Lake Land Fill Site. Instead, it will apply for approximately $22,000 to purchase buffer land near the site. In September it originally applied for two subsidies. The first for $169,000 took into account various hydro and geological surveys, public consultation, a Ministry of the Environment hearing and possible design modifications of the land site. The second for $95,000 would cover the cost of the expansion, minus the cost of an MOE hearing. But the project is not far enough along yet and it is not known if an MOE hearing will even be required. The Ministry of Natural Resources has completed one expansion study, and has undertaken a second. Council must now wait for the results to find out what its next step should be. If a hearing is not required, the expansion of the land site could begin as soon as next year. But if there is a hearing, it would not be held until 1992 which would push the expansion back at least another year.

bruise and scrapes, and both drivers were charged with driving while intoxicated. Cliche of this and every year: at least in this column for the past six Decembers, but with a slight variation: From our (motor) home to your home, a Very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year!

Kinark to be a a 'user friendly' place for help

by MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

USER FRIENDLY is the way computer companies like to describe their products. But nothing can hide the fact a computer is nothing but a box of bits and bytes. It can't do anything unless you tell it to.

When John Penn says he wants Kinark Child and Family Services to be user friendly, he does mean giving it a personal touch. Kinark should be a place that welcomes people, and that is welcomed by the community in return.

But best of all, Kinark's new program director is looking forward to working at a place willingly visited by its patrons. Unlike his work with the Children's Aid Society, where he was often dealing with people who were there because they were told to, the people who walk into his Haliburton office will be glad to see him.

"The clients are voluntary, the families are voluntary, and in children's aid, the workload is very high and the job was getting very stressful," Penn says of what attracted him to his new job.

Penn comes to Haliburton from Goderich, where he was Huron County's Executive Director of Family and Children's Services for five years. His background includes private practice, child welfare, family therapy and counselling; his education includes a master's degree in Social Work from State University in Buffalo, N.Y., a Level III of Family Therapy Curriculum from McMaster University, and a course in managing not-for-profit organizations from Queen's University.

After stepping down from his latest job, Penn thought he'd like to go into private practice but community mental health was an attractive alternative. "I felt Kinark is doing the type of work I wanted to do."

He seeks a co-operative way of reaching out to the people in the county and helping them find a way to solve their problems. "Health, education and social welfare are starting to look at ways they can work together," he notes after Thursday's Interagency Luncheon, where people from various organizations gather to bring others up-to-date about their programs. "No one owns 'the truth' and knowledge. We can do more by working together."

And many local families need to be worked with. Each generation says there's more stress on the family, and today, that's stretched to the point where "family" is difficult to define. Can a single parent and two children be a family? Are the grandparents from a first marriage still grandparents even when the marriage dissolves and the couple goes its separate ways, sometimes starting up new families? Each family brings with it its own definition.

However, in that "collection of individuals, kids have to be there somewhere." Their needs have to be addressed too; and the family, whatever that may be, is still the best place to do that.

Family problems can arise when people "come from families where they haven't learned how a family works."

As well, there are outside forces at work. "Kids are subjected to a tremendous amount of pressure," Penn says. There are marriage dissolutions, the pressure to measure success by scholastic achievement, and the impact of the media, to name a few. "It's tough to be a kid these days."

Kinark can't alleviate many of these pressures — the same television hype will greet a teenager after counselling — but it can help children and their parents cope with them. To do this well, people must seek out Kinark and willingly accept its help.

That way, Kinark can be proactive, instead of always reacting to a problem after it's occurred.

"It's hard for families to subject themselves to that kind of scrutiny by an outside person," Penn acknowledges. But it's made easier when families have the support of the rest of the community, the user friendly attitude Penn referred to earlier: "It's okay to go and get help early in the cycle of problems."

Many people today say there are too many social services helping people cope with problems their parents and grandparents didn't seem to have.

'It's okay to get help early in the cycle of problems,' says John Penn of the message he'd like to send to local families who may need Kinark's services.

In contradiction, Penn says "When you or a neighbour or a friend needs these services and the help isn't there, it's very difficult. It's hoped the service is there for when people need them."

And, he adds, the people who might already have coping skills, or would be willing to take courses to learn about them, "are those who wouldn't need the training anyway."

Besides, the community is already taking over many of the roles the family used to perform. Children used to be taught at home, now there in schools. Children used to be raised at home, now many are in daycare centres. "Society in general can re-inforce the role of parents."

Television is also part of "community." "At one time the boundaries between family (and the rest of society) seemed clear but now the values of kids are shaped by what they see and hear on T.V."

Sometimes the enormity of the problems facing families today make change seem almost impossible. But for Penn, his faith in the role such agencies as Kinark can play gives him hope.

For him to throw up his hands in despair, "that would be like a mechanic saying 'I get sick of people coming in with their broken cars all the time.'"

"There is some hope there," he says. How does he know it's there? "Because I see families change and grow."

When asked what strengths he brings to that process, Penn first says "I've done a lot of work with communities, and dealing with other agencies for the benefits of kids."

"I think my real interest is working with families. Very few kids generate problems on their own. You've got to look at parents and kids together."

Getting those people together at the Kinark office can be the hardest step. Once there, Penn hopes their contact with the staff and the welcome they receive will make it easier for them to come back. And being a user-friendly kind of place, the people, he hopes, will want to come back.

Immigration deserves a better image

by MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

KEN MUNKS' NEIGHBOURS often complain to him about all the immigrants who are coming to Canada. Only to get free winter coats and go on welfare. Those same immigrants are taking all the jobs away from hard-working Canadians like them, they add.

Then Mr. Munks politely reminds them that he is one of those nasty immigrants. No you're not, they tell him, you're one of us.

"The perception is that only non-whites are immigrants," the Yorkshire-born Mr. Munks says. "People are apologetic when I remind them I'm an immigrant. To them it's the others who are immigrants and I have to say 'No, I'm the immigrant.'"

It could be said that Mr. Munks is an "audible" minority. In physical appearance, nothing sets him apart from thousands of WASP Canadians. (Working in Haliburton and living in Buckhorn, which is near an Indian reserve, some people have mistaken him for being Ojibwa.) But as soon as he opens his mouth, you know he's "from away."

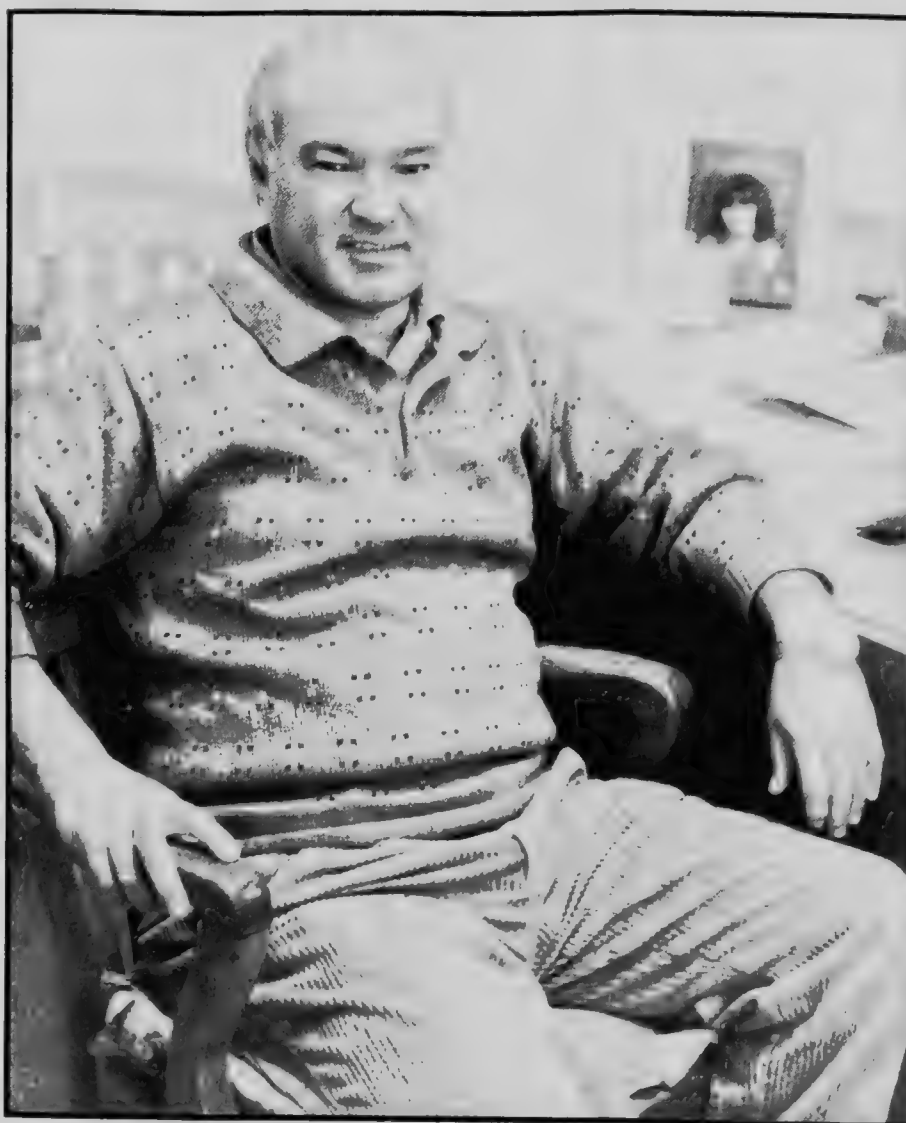

Yet as he sees it, Canada is an immigrant country to begin with.

"If native people said 'Go back to your own country, solve your problems there,' what would Canadians think of that?" he asks. Like the English, who are a "mixed breed" of Saxons, Celts, Normans and Vikings, most Canada-born Canadians have a naturally multi-cultural background. So if asked to go back home, "Where would they go to? England, Germany, Poland. . ."

Part of the problem with perceptions of immigration is that people confuse immigrants with refugees, Mr. Munks believes. The latter makes up about 70 to 80 per cent of newcomers. Requirements for entry into Canada are vastly different for the two groups, as Mr. Munks can attest.

When he and his wife and two children decided to leave Yorkshire, England, and move to Canada, that major decision was the easy part. In the next

Canada can be enriched by newcomers

'The perception is that only non-whites are immigrants,' says Ken Munks. 'People are apologetic when I remind them I'm an immigrant.'

18 months, they would pay the price of emigrating, both in terms of the personal turmoil and uncertainty, and their pocketbooks.

"A reporter on television last week said it's more difficult to get in from England than anywhere else. I can bear that out. If you apply through the legal process, it's long, harrowing and traumatic."

You first apply to the Canadian Embassy in London. Officials give you reams of questions to answer, all in duplicate. "You have to give all the details of yourself and immediate family, including your mother and father, any dependent relatives who may wish to come over after you do, as well as where you were born, and your occupation. Children older than 21 have to apply separately."

It also help if you have relatives in Canada, which Mr. Munks' wife does. Joyce Munks' aunt and uncle live in Buckhorn and their names went of the application. The "sponsoring family" play an important role in the process. If immigrants have sponsors, they cannot claim any type of welfare or social assistance. "Except for a health card, all else is to be provided for by the sponsoring family."

Also factored in is the applicant's job value. On a scale of one to 10, when Mr. Munks first applied his job as a social worker was valued as a 10, indicating that social workers were in short supply in Canada. By the time they arrived, his job's value had gone down to a five. And what job was a 10? A private investigator.

As immigrants from England, the Munkses had to fluently speak, write or read either English or French.

If the application is accepted at the first stage, the second stage is an interview in London. No matter where you live in England, you have to have the interview in London, Mr. Munks says. For him and his family, that meant taking a day off work and school and the three oldest — Mr. and Mrs. Munks and their 18-year-old son — paying 57 pounds each for train fare. A pound roughly equals two dollars.

COMMUNITY NEWS

by BRIAN RODNICK
Staff Reporter

THERE ARE MANY ASPECTS of the Christmas season which remain with us throughout our lives. These memories often revolve around gifts, both giving and receiving, and food. Who can forget those large, sumptuous dinners when the table was crammed with food and surrounded by relatives?

But there is one aspect of the holiday season which many of us often forget to include among our Christmas memories, the annual Christmas church service.

Regardless of denomination, practically every church dedicates one of its services to celebrate the true meaning of Christmas.

Next to the celebration of Easter, Christmas is one of the most popular services of the year.

This comes as no surprise to Reverend Jim Crighton of the Haliburton United Church. He often jokes to his congregation how nice it is to see everyone, even if it is only once a year.

"I never joke in a derogatory way," he says. "Christmas is often the only time of year when the whole family can come together."

Family tradition plays a big part in Christmas services, and even in these fast-paced times this analysis still holds true.

"The service often gives people the chance to reflect on life, and those who don't go all the time like to attend for this reason," says Reverend Brian Plouffe of the Lakeside Baptist Church in Haliburton.

"People need a message of vitality and of hope and promise, rather than just generalities," says Reverend John Phillips of St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton.

The hope and promise people can gather at the Christmas service helps them face the problems. As we move into the nineties, getting back to basics becomes more important. "I think people are realizing more and more the hype of buying expensive Christmas gifts is false. It is starting to leave them empty," says Reverend Brian Parker of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden.

Trying times in our economy may also have changed people's attitudes. "Many people are making their own gifts this year," he says, adding homemade jams and breads are really popular.

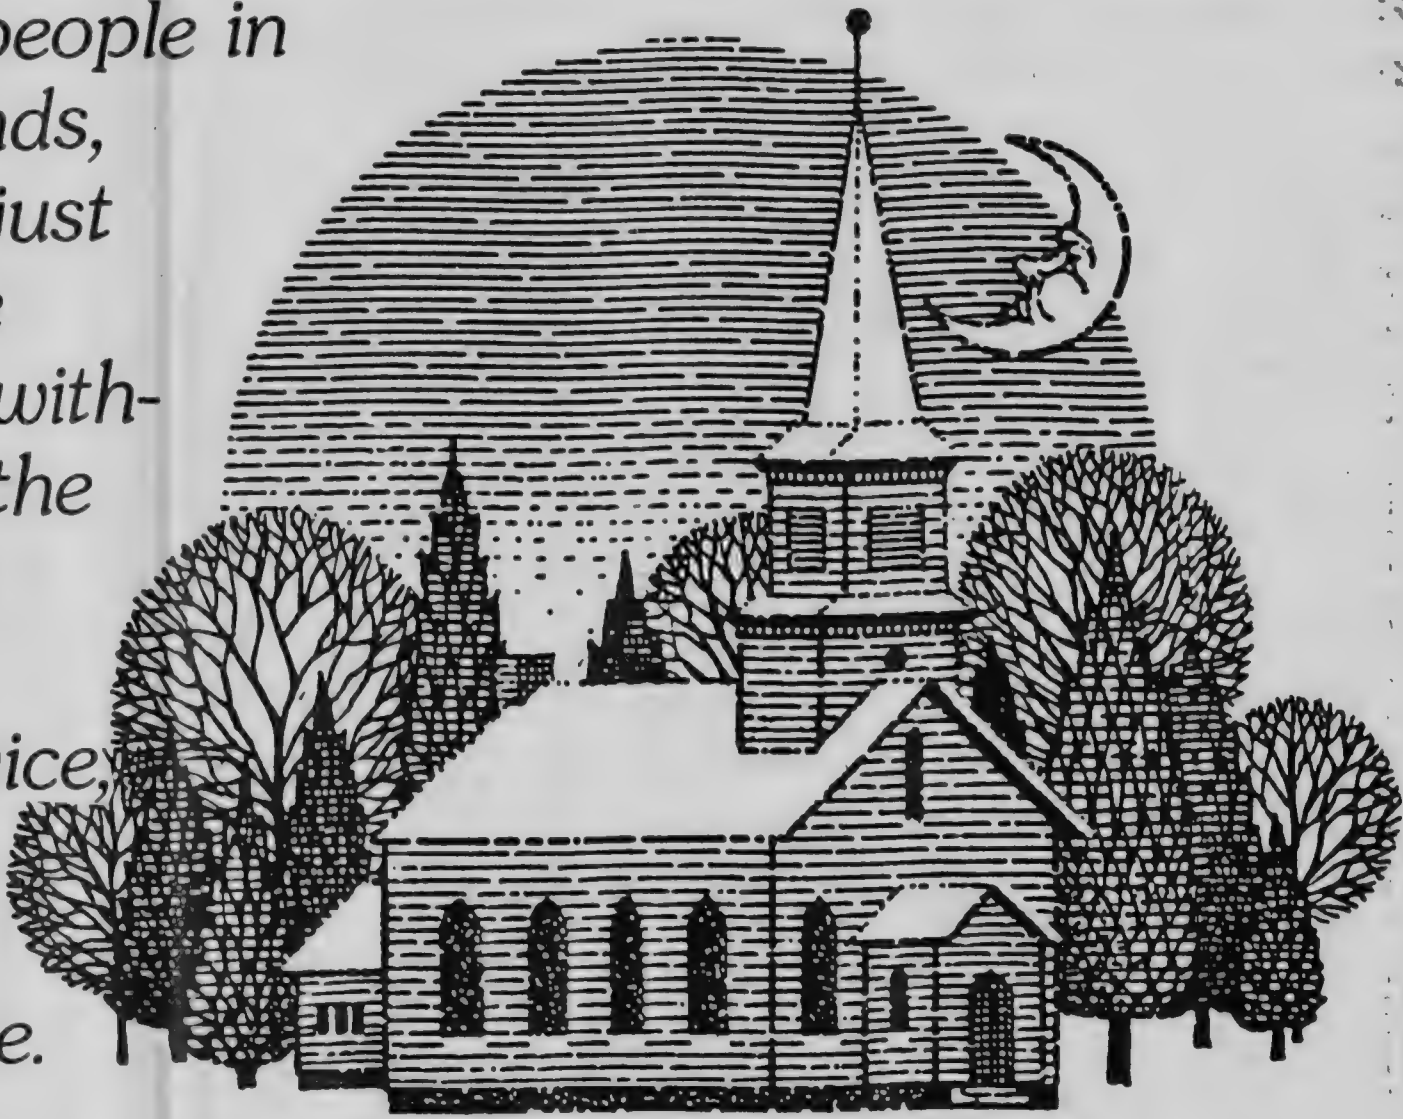

By making their own gifts, Parker says Christmas is taking on more of a personal flavor. "I think the nineties will be like this in much the same way."

Giving donations instead of gifts has also increased in popularity, and Parker sees this as a positive sign. "Giving a donation is someone else's name is not only inventive, but wise."

But he feels the Christmas service still plays a major spiritual role for many people.

"As a Christian group we need to have these one or two celebrations so we can still feel protected."

For many people in the Highlands, Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas without taking the family to a Christmas church service, filled with songs, joy and promise.

The following is a list of Christmas services:

December 23rd

□ St. Peter's Anglican Church in Maple Lake, and St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden are holding a special morning prayer with extra hymns and carols. St. Peter's is at 9:15 a.m. and St. Paul's is at 11 a.m.

□ St. Margaret's Anglican Church in Wilberforce is holding its Carol service at 7:30 p.m.

□ The Haliburton United Church is holding a Christmas Pageant at its Sunday service, beginning at 11:15 a.m. In Camarvon, the Zion United Church is presenting a Christmas Pageant with a choir at its regular Sunday service. (A special "Blue Christmas" service for hurting families will be held on Friday December 21st in Minden, beginning at 7:30 p.m.)

□ The Lakeside Baptist Church in Haliburton and The Eagle Lake Community Church are holding a special Sunday service on the Christmas Story, with a choir performance at both. They are at regular service times.

□ The Allsaw Pentecostal Church in Minden and the Gooderham Pentecostal Church are holding carol sing-a-longs, both beginning at 7 p.m.

December 24th

□ St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church in Haliburton is holding a special service with carol singing beginning at 4:30 p.m. Evening mass will start at 7:30 p.m.

□ St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton has a carol service at 6:45 p.m. followed by a communion service, and St. Andrew's Anglican Church in West Guilford has a communion service at 11 p.m.

□ St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden has two services, one at 7:30 p.m. (children are invited to have a new toy blessed) and another at 11:30 p.m.

□ The United Church in Haliburton will hold a communion service at 7:30 p.m.

December 25th, Christmas Day

□ St. Margaret's Anglican Church in Wilberforce will hold a 10 a.m. communion service.

□ Our Lady Of Fatima Catholic Church in Minden will hold a Christmas Eve Mass at 8 p.m. and St. Patrick's in Kinmount has a mass at 10 p.m.

□ Our Lady Of Fatima Catholic Church in Minden has a Christmas Day Mass at 10:30 a.m.

□ St. Patrick's in Kinmount will hold a Christmas Day Mass at 9 a.m.

PEOPLE

The officials are polite but extremely non-committal. They make sure the people sitting in front of them are the same as the people in the photographs attached to the application. By this time, they also have the police check report, and copies of all birth and marriage certificates.

"After the interview, they don't tell you anything," says Mr. Munks about the ensuing waiting period.

Once you've passed the interview stage — which can take weeks — you then have to have, and pay for a medical. The doctor is chosen by the embassy, and luckily the Munks did not have to travel as far for this appointment. Manchester was within driving distance from their home, although they did have to take a day off work and pay 50 pounds each for the examination which includes x-rays, blood and urine tests, and checking to make sure the heart's working well. There's no financial re-imbursement if you don't succeed at all stages.

Then followed a few more months of waiting as their application was processed. The Munks had no idea whether they would be accepted or not. So for the next few months they were pinning their hearts on being Canadian while accepting they might always be English.

Finally, word came that they were accepted for immigration. There was a string attached, though. Their visa was valid for 10 months. In that time, they had to sell their house and leave one life behind. If they were unable to leave, they'd have to begin the entire application process again. It didn't help that the Munks had to sell their house when the market was in bad shape.

With plane fares, moving fees and the application process, it cost them about $5,000 to make the move.

"All this about people getting in for free, forget it," Mr. Munks says. "The only help we got was everyone in immigration was extremely polite."

Because the government recognizes extraordinary circumstances in people's lives, refugees do not always have to go through this long process.

On the Munks' plane on February 16, 1989, were four people who did not have visas. When the plane arrived at Pearson International, no one could disembark until officials boarded the plane and talked with the four refugees. The refugees were then taken into a separate customs and immigration area.

"Our neighbours think they should bring in more people from England and make concessions so it's fair. We came in on our skills and whether we can look after ourselves. There's no measure of that with refugees."

But when Mr. Munks tells this story, there is no bitterness in his voice.

Canada should still allow refugees into the country. Like the Irish who were forced to leave during the potato famine in the 1840s, many of today's refugees are "being rooted out by world economics and poverty."

Is this a bad thing, Mr. Munks asks Canadians to ask themselves.

"If someone came knocking on your door and said 'I need shelter for the night because someone's threatening my family and my children are starving, would you turn them away? This is what refugees are about. They are human and have the right to be treated humanely.'"

People's feelings about refugees is often coloured by the refugee's race. "They seem to fear Pakistanis and Caribbeans and less so the Chinese from Hong Kong because they say Chinese are industrious people."

"The fear also is they think immigrants are taking their jobs, not realizing immigrants can also create jobs."

It took Mr. Munks eight weeks to find a job. When they arrived at the aunt and uncle's, they liked the Buckhorn area so much, they wanted to stay. Last April, Mr. Munks was hired as the senior social worker at the Haliburton Children's Aid Society office.

He wanted to be interviewed about his family's journey because he is hearing Canadians say so many negative things about immigration.

"The government needs to be giving some sound messages through the media about the benefits of immigration," he says. "It needs to do a selling job because if it doesn't, it could end up with the racial disquiet there is in Britain. The point at which to avoid that is now."

"It's the lack of knowledge that fuels the fire of fear."

Local children were delighted by the performance of "Dog-gone It!" by the Lilliput Theatre on Saturday at Hyland Crest. The play was sponsored by the Haliburton County Library.

Ontario Hydro's Minden Area Office is hiring Forestry Apprentices

This job will be of interest to females and males who like physically demanding outdoor work in varying weather conditions. You will be involved in felling, climbing, pruning and applying herbicides to maintain power line clearances. The forestry apprenticeship program is four years in length and includes both on-the-job and classroom training.

To be considered you must possess grade 12 education and a Class "G" Driver's Licence (with the capability to obtain and maintain a Class "A/Z" Licence).

Ontario Hydro offers competitive wages and a comprehensive benefits package.

Interested, qualified candidates should send proof of education, proof of Driver's Licence, an application form, and a detailed resume outlining: work experience, experience at heights, mechanical interest and aptitude, experience performing physical work, interest in outdoor activities and involvement in teams, crews or other groups.

Application forms are available from the Minden Area Office on Highway 35 in Minden.

Please submit your application by January 7, 1991 quoting File No. 8-MA-942 to: Human Resources Department, Georgian Bay Region, 93 Bell Farm Road, Barrie, Ontario L4M 1H1.

We thank all the applicants for their interest, however, only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

Ontario Hydro encourages applications from qualified women, men, members of visible minorities, aboriginal peoples and persons with disabilities.

The Sunday School of Zion Church put on its Christmas Pageant on Sunday morning to the delight of everyone there. Many thanks to the dedicated teachers. There is something about Sunday School concerts that really gives meaning to Christmas. White gifts of food were collected for the less fortunate, followed by a light lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Moore of St. Catharines were home for the weekend.

Carnarvon Lumber held its annual Christmas dinner for its contractors and staff at Stanhope Fire Hall on Saturday night followed by a dance. All had a good time.

Our thoughts and prayers are with Ian McGuire and his family at this time. Ian has been transferred from a Toronto hospital to Minden. Also, get well wishes to Mrs. Jack Stacey who is also in Minden Hospital, transferred from Peterborough.

We are almost at the end of another year of reporting happenings and events hereabouts. I thank all the people who phone in and let me know and wish all our readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Zion Church Choir will be presenting "A Choral Christmas" on Sunday evening, December 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Congratulations to Marsha Bain, daughter of Gerald and Pat Bain, a graduate from Sheridan College in Fashion Merchandizing at Retail Management.

Welcome to ladies to attend our St. Andrew's Christmas programme on Wednesday evening this week.

Of course what would be more appealing to more people is Wayne Cooper's production of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" by the High School Drama Club at St. George's on Wednesday, Dec. 19. It is one of the most enjoyable Christmas stories ever told.

Welcome to new neighbours of the Wayne Fawcett's, the Berardis, parents of Rosy Kadwell. We trust they will be happy in the community.

Christmas fellowship was extended at various churches on Sunday following the regular service as people remained and enjoyed refreshments over exchange of greetings at both West Guilford Baptist Church and the Maple Lake United Church.

Everett Upton is home, following lengthy recuperation in Peterborough after a stroke. Nila Cowan is home after knee surgery in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. We wish them both successful recoveries.

For those who couldn't get to see The Nutcracker, Janis Guthy's ballet class held a recital at the high school. Kitten faces, polka dot dresses and tutus greeted the parents as the young girls showed off their moves.

PLAYING TOGETHER: Young China Schell got in on the act when In Harmony came to perform at Extencicare on Sunday. She's fascinated by Larry VanLieshout's accordion, as Jodi Reid tries to keep a straight face.

SINGING TOGETHER: One of the best parts of Christmas is all the carols you get to sing. At Extencicare, May Cowen and resident Ethel Curry let their voices ring out with the joy of the season. A party for all followed.

Christmas at Archie Stouffer

Instead of its music concert, the staff and students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School held an Open House on Wednesday night. Below, baby Holly Johnston gets a lot of attention during the carol sing. At immediate right, there was a little bit of role reversal as Kyle Russell watches his dad Clyde does his home-work. At far right, Christina Cox, foreground, and Jennifer Browning check out the book fair.

Christmas seen through young eyes...

LIFE OF A CHRISTMAS TREE

One bright and sunny day, two weeks before Christmas, I was standing tall with my friends. All of a sudden I heard a CRASH, Band, Band, in the bush. It was people with saws. They walked up to me and put its saw against my trunk and started cutting. It really hurt! All of a sudden I fell over. The people dragged me to a little house in the woods and put a barrel of dirt under me.

The people brought boxes of little red and green balls and hundreds of lights and lots of tinsel. "What is this?" I wondered. They started putting them on me. When they pulled down my branches it felt terrible. After they put all of the decorations on, they placed presents under me. All the people admired my bright costume.

It was hard getting used to a warm atmosphere but I had no choice. A little dog came up and tried to water me but I swung by branch at him. A very tiny cat leaped up and started climbing me. I crashed to the floor. All the people came running out, spanked the cat, picked me up and put me back straight.

On Christmas Eve the children all went to bed and left cookies and milk out for Santa. I couldn't resist so I ate a few cookies and a little slurp of milk. Very quietly the two parents came out and put lots more presents under my branches.

In the morning the kids ran out, opened all the presents, and woke up their parents.

On Christmas day lots of people filled the house and played Christmas carols. After the presents were handed out, the people sat down and ate lots of excellent food.

I was very old so the people took off my decorations and threw me over a bank. Was this any way to treat me after I made their house look so beautiful?

MERRY CHRISTMAS

from Mrs. Dron's Special Ed. Class

Christmas is giving,
Christmas is sharing,
Christmas is loving,
Christmas is caring,
Christmas is family,
Christmas is food,
Christmas is Jesus,
Christmas is good.

MY CHRISTMAS POEM

Kris Jamson, Cardiff School, Grade 4.

Christmas is a special day.
Home for Christmas.
Roof noises.
It is soon Christmas.
See Santa on the roof.
Tree's are up.
Merry Christmas.
A decorated tree.
Scream! Santa's falling through the roof.

CHRISTMAS

Eric Norrish, Cardiff School, Grade 7.

C is for candles that shine so bright
On a cold and clear Christmas night.
H is for helping to decorate the tree
With tinsel and ornaments to see.
R is for reindeer that clack on the roof
Prancing with each little hoof.
I is for the innkeeper, who did not have space
He offered them the stable to stay in good grace.

S is for silent, yes that silent night
When Jesus was born the angels took flight.
T is for toy that sits under the tree.
As the plump old Santa Claus tries to get down
the chimney.

M is for mistletoe that hangs over your head.
You rush by it to avoid being kidded by Ted.
A is for angels that fly high above
Singing Christmas carols with joy and love.
S is for sleep that we tried hard to get
Dreaming and hoping for a new pet.

Michael MacIntosh, Cardiff, Gr. 4

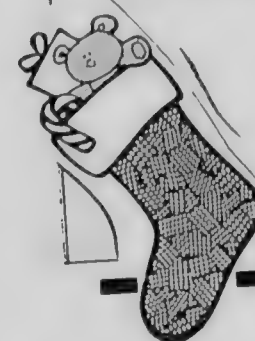

C is for the chimney that Santa comes down
His sock is full of toys and a clown.
H is for holly that hangs on the door
And holidays that we are waiting for.
R is for ribbon on a present for me
Sitting in a corner under the tree.
I is for icicles hanging from my roof
Out of the way of each reindeer's hoof.
S is for snow white as can be.
And the snowman that I made with Lee.
T is for the good time with my family.
Full of fun beside the tree.
M is for Mary that gave birth.
To Jesus the Saviour of the earth.
A is for angel that flies over the manger.
When three kings came that were strangers.
S is for a sleigh ride with a friend.
It is so much fun we wish it wouldn't end.

Dear Santa
I hope your reindeer are o'kay
I hope you can bring me magic nursery and pooh. patrol

I Love You

from

OGLE

Our thanks to the students of Haliburton and Cardiff for sharing their stories with us.

CHRISTMAS POEM

Jeremy Graham, Cardiff School, Grade 8.

C is for candy canes hanging so high.
And all the gifts you have to buy.
H is for holly hanging so high.
Under it you kiss and then you sigh.
R is for riches the wisemen brought.
And the other gifts he had got.
I is for the inns that were full.
All they had was a stable.
S is for the stories we have read.
About Christmas before going to bed.
T is for the turkey we are going to eat.
And share with the visitors that we greet.
M is for the manger where he lay.
All filled in with hay.
A is for the angels as they sang a song.
The shepherds heard it and went along.
S is for Santa and his sleigh
Pulled by his reindeer that eat lots of hay.

C IS FOR...

Eddie Madden, Cardiff School, Grade 7.

C is for the Christ Child born upon this day.
Sleeping quietly in his manger of hay.
H is for the heralds in the night.
Sweetly singing Silent Night.
R is for Redeemer who helps us see the light.
Through the Christ Child born Christmas night.
I is for Israel where the infant was born.
Kings came to worship him on Christmas morn.
S is for the star that shone above.
A small town full of love.
T is for three wisemen they travelled so far.
It was a very long journey as they followed the star.

M is for the manger where he lay.
In his crib of hay.
A is all He stands for.
Giving us hope for evermore.
S means shepherds came a long way.
To worship the Christ Child on Christmas day.

THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

Rachel Bamford, Cardiff School, Grade 8.

C is for cards with greetings so cheery
They lift our spirits when winter is dreary.
H is for humming the tunes of joy.
Carols sung by each girl and boy.
R is for reindeer that pull the sleigh.
That carries the gifts on Christmas day.
T is for ice so shiny and clear.
Slipping and falling on your rear.
S is for Santa a jolly good fellow.
Bringing gifts and eating jello.
T is for tinsel on a tree.
Sparkling like a star where it is free.
M is for merry time we'll enjoy.
Laughing and cheering with each girl and boy.
A is for angel so high above.
Glowing like a star flying like a dove.
S is for snow falling so light.
Getting deeper and deeper during the night.

THE NIGHT JESUS WAS BORN

Katherine Anderson, Cardiff School, Gr. 3.

One day the king said that all had to pay taxes
So every one in the village had to go back to their home land. Mary and Joseph had to travel to Bethlehem. The trip was rough for Mary because she was ready to have a child. When they got to Bethlehem there was no room. They came to a man who had a stable out back so they stayed. The child was born and he was to be king and saviour of all mankind.

SANTA

Santa is part of Christmas.
Presents are part of Christmas.
Decorations are part of Christmas.
Jesus is part of Christmas.
But my favourite part of Christmas is making crafts.

Terra Shaw, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

Editor's Note: This was written by Shirley Hodgson, in 1945, when she was Shirley Hamilton, a high school student. Time does not change the meaning of Christmas

"CHRISTMAS"

CHRISTMAS HAD BEEN the children's festival of the Christian Year, and this is as it should be, so we do not forget the Child who was born on this day so long ago. He came to teach us the way of prayer, peace and love and His work is still being done throughout the world today, in spite of things as they seem to be. It is not the Christmas season that makes us happy, but the spirit we have in our hearts at this time, the good feeling that comes from thinking of others and doing something for them. All the outer signs of Christmas — the glistening shops, the gaily wrapped packages, the tinsel, the holly and the mistletoe, the jolly Christmas trees, the smiles and warm greetings of friends — are but signs of the inner gifts of love and peace, joy and friendship that we share with one another at Christmas time

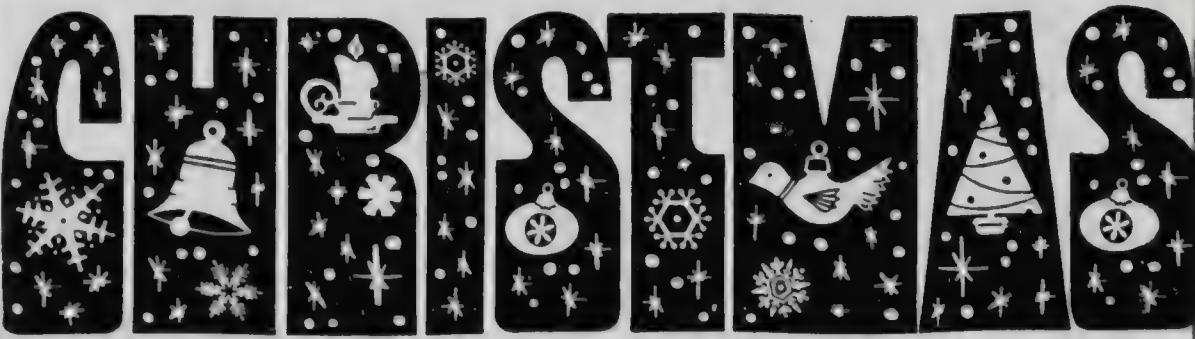

SANTA'S CALLING!

Editor's note: This is a true story that happened last year on Christmas Eve, shared with us by Shirley Hodgson of Haliburton Lake

WE WERE HAVING SUPPER with our daughter's family in Wilberforce when, suddenly, the phone rang. This phone call was for Curtis Tighe (age 4). Curtis ran to the phone, said "Hello" and then turned to us with a wide eyed expression as he said excitedly, "It is Santa Claus and he wants to talk to me!" Curtis said "What did you call for?" Santa said "I just called to ask you what you asked me to bring you for Christmas?" Curtis sounded a little disgusted (Thinking Santa should have remembered). "Well, I only want two things: a back-hoe digger and a hockey game." Santa said, "that is just fine, we will see what we will do." They talked for a few moments. Then we heard Curtis say "What do you want for Christmas Santa Claus?" "Well, there was dead silence for a few moments, then Santa said, "Oh, I just want a few Carrots for my reindeer." Curtis's Mother said "We have lots of carrots." Santa and Curtis talked for a few moments more then they said Goodbye. Curtis came back to the table very excited and said "It was the real Santa you know. And now I am just too "incited" to eat."

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: On Thursday night, both the staff and the residents of Extencicare had the opportunity to break bread together in honour of Christmas. The annual Christmas dinner is an opportunity to get to know each other on a personal basis. Here, nurse Marilyn Mighton and resident May Fairley share the stories which make such feasts come to life for all involved.

CAROLS

C is for carols we sing in the church.
H is for happiness in doing fun things.
R is for reindeer playing in snow.
I is for icicles hanging on the roof.
S is for snow falling softly.
T is for treats that are yummy.
M is for manger where the baby is sleeping.
A is for Advent bright
S is for Santa Claus going in his sled.

Sarah Burk, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

CHRISTMAS IS LOVE

Christmas is love.
Christmas is Jesus.
Christmas is joy.
Christmas is books.
Christmas is an elf.
Christmas is reindeer.
Christmas is baby Jesus.
Christmas is a green tree.
And Christmas is a sleigh.

April Wells, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

CHURCH

C is for church.
H is for harmony.
R is for Rudolph.
I is for ice.
S is for Santa.
T is for thanks.
M is for Mary.
A is for animals.
S is for stocking.

Denise Russell, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

PART OF CHRISTMAS

Jesus is part of Christmas.
Gingerbread is part of Christmas.
Reindeer are part of Christmas.
Bells are part of Christmas.
Snow is part of Christmas.
Decorations are part of Christmas.
BUT my favourite part of Christmas is SANTA CLAUS.

Bryan Burke, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

THE TREE

Christmas is a time for loving.
Christmas is a time to bring in the Christmas tree.
Christmas is a time when Jesus was born.
Christmas is fun because we get presents.

Kelly Dawson, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

POEMS OF CHRISTMAS

C is for the care that little children bear.
H is for a holly, which makes us bright and jolly.
R is for Rudolph
I is for an icicle, which is half the fun of a tricycle.
S is for Santa, who comes to children like Alanta.
T is for our Christmas tree, that we love to decorate with glee.
M is for the milk, which are made from white rice.
A is for the tooth ache, that we get from eating candy that we bake.
S is for a red seat, that is all so neat.

THE SCARED SNOWFLAKE

I was brought up by a white and fluffy cloud. I grew from a little raindrop to a big and fluffy snowflake. Then came the time that the whole cloud was too crowded. The head snowflake had a meeting and they decided that some snowflakes would have to go to the Earth. They chose my friends and I. Everyone was pleased that I got chosen but not me. I was scared. I wanted to go bury myself in the cloud. It wasn't that I was scared of the Earth or anything on it, I was scared of the ride down to the Earth. I was very scared. All my other friends were happy but not me. All my friends were telling me how much fun it would be. I got a little bit braver. I went to bed that night in my little bed and said to myself, "Tomorrow is the day. Don't worry. When I get there I will be played in and it will be fun." Then I fell asleep. I had a dream of how much fun it would be to be made into a snowman or snowball or even a snowbase. Then I had a bad thought. What if someone skied or tobogganed or snowmobiled or drove over me? I woke up with a scare. It was morning. I was eating my breakfast when my friend came in. "We have to meet with the head snowflake at the cloud park in an hour," he said "Then what?" I asked. "Then we get transferred to earth." I ate my breakfast and set off for the cloud park. I felt as if there were a butterfly in my stomach. When we got there I was greeted by all my friends. Then the head snowflake came over the loud speaker. "May I have your attention please?" he asked. "As you know we are gathered here to send those we chose the other day, to the Earth to fill it with snow. Now follow me to the middle of the cloud." I whispered to my friend, "Where is the middle of the cloud?" "I don't know," he replied. We walked and walked and walked, I was getting tired of walking. We finally got there. "Everyone chosen come to me one at a time and we'll jump." "Jump?" I said scared as ever. When it was my turn I walked up to the head snowflake. "I am scared," I said. "Scared of what?" he inquired. "I don't know," I answered. "Well," he said "Don't be afraid. When you get there you will be as happy as ever." "Thank-You" I answered. "Jump," he replied. So I jumped. When I got there everyone cheered. I was happy when I landed on a soft white layer of snow and I have been happy ever since. "I hope it stays cold."

Cloggers step in for good time

SENIOR LEAGUE

by: WINNIFRED BARNUM

Happy shopping for Christmas folks.

Last Thursday was Tea Party as usual. The ladies of Minden Curling Club provided the tea and served it. They were Margaret Harrison, Shirley Colliss, and Katie Parker. It was served from the tuck shop to the dining room and was delicious. The residents thank them heartily.

In the evening Marg Prentice was with us and called the bingo. She is a very good caller and we thank her sincerely.

Friday afternoon there was Happy Hour. The volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden, and Bonnie Fullan. They ably took care of everyone. Thank you very much. The entertainment was music played by Stan Griffith, Bob Ferguson and Doris where needed.

Saturday afternoon we were entertained by the Stepping Good Time Cloggers from Oshawa. This group was here in the Spring and said they would come again. The ladies wear white dresses trimmed with red and very full skirts. The men form different figures as they go around to music. Organizer and leader of the show was Sherie Gagnon. I did get a few of their names but not all of them. There were eight dancers. Some of the tunes were, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town", "Foot Prints in the Snow", and "Winter Wonderland". Curtis Gartshore and John form West Guilford were dancers and Sherie Gagnon's husband ran the tape recorders.

Mary Smith had the misfortune to fall and cut her forehead. We hope you are better soon, Mary.

Rev. John Burgess conducted the Sunday night service and Alice Jones played the organ. The service was instructive and comforting and we thank both Rev. Burgess and Alice.

Monday Evelyn Coleman came for bible study. We learned about Mary and Martha who were so different in what they did, yet finally they were working for the same purpose. Thank you Evelyn.

Tuesday afternoon we had a games period of euchre and croquinoie. A volunteer was placed at each table with three residents. The volunteers were Jean Sears, Freda Hulbig, Carrie Drysdale, Helen Skelding and Mable Deacon. We had a pleasant time and thank the volunteers sincerely.

Tuesday evening the Minden 1st Brownies, Girl Guides and Pathfinders came to the Hyland Crest auditorium. While the Guides and Brownies entertained us with a Christmas program the Pathfinders went to the bed care wing singing carols. The leaders of each group are Faith Aggett, Kathe Belcher,

Marlene Munro, Sue Hill and Debbie Mansfield. The Guides and Brownies program contained group carol singing. Following the concert we moved to the dining room the Pathfinders served us with a beautiful lunch. The younger children went home when they were finished. We enjoyed the evening with the children and thank everyone very much.

Wednesday evening Earl Cooper and Kathy Owens were here for a lovely evening of music.

Municipality of Dysart et al

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT — AND —

IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE MUNICIPALITY OF DYSART ET AL TO STOP-UP, CLOSE AND CONVEY PART OF ORIGINAL ALLOWANCES FOR ROAD IN THE TOWNSHIP OF DYSART IN THE COUNTY OF HALIBURTON

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Chapter 302, Section 301 of the Municipal Act, as amended, that the Township Council of the Municipality of Dysart et al proposes to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its regular meeting to be held on Monday, January 14th, 1991 a By-law to close, stop-up and convey part of the original allowance for road between Lots 5 and 6, Concession III and between Concessions III and IV in front of Lot 5, in the Township of Dysart, in the County of Haliburton.

WHICH SAID parcel or tract of land is illustrated and shown as Parts 1, 5, 6, 7 and 8 on a plan of survey by Paul Wilson, Ontario Land Surveyor, dated October 4, 1990 and available for inspection in the office of the Planning Administrator in the municipal office in Haliburton, Ontario.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at its meeting to be held at the time and place above-mentioned, the Council of the Municipality of Dysart et al shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be affected by the said By-law and who applied to the Planning Administrator to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Dysart, this 29th day of November, 1990.

Simple Xmas filled with love

WILBERFORCE NEWS

by: WINNIE SCHOFIELD

There are a few people who will remember Christmas in Wilberforce before 1920. The highlight of the season was the Christmas concert held the Orange Hall. The Hall contained a large room, heated by a wood stove and a large stage at one end that could be closed off with curtains. Entertainment was scarce in those years and radio had not yet arrived. However there was plenty of talent provided by the forty pupils and teacher from the one room school. The children put on skits, recited poems and sang to Christmas music. All seats in the hall were filled for this occasion, with everyone paying 25 cents admission at the door. Money raised was used to buy sports equipment for the pupils. One year it was sufficient to purchase nine toboggans to be used by young and old. Adults made use of these in the evenings and had a glorious time sailing down a very steep hill in an area that is now covered with trees.

Christmas was simple in those days, presents hand made and given with love. Goodwill toward neighbours brought families together.

Monmouth Senior Citizens held their annual Christmas dinner on Wednesday Dec. 12th at the Lloyd Watson Centre. Close to a hundred people enjoyed an excellent turkey dinner. They were later entertained by the Hughes family consisting of six handsome, talented boys and their parents, who presented Christmas music and slides for an appreciative audience.

Eleven members of Branch 624 Ladies Auxiliary attended a Christmas dinner party at the Skeeters Restaurant and had a most enjoyable time. It was unfortunate that their President Fry Shosenberg was unable to attend after suffering from a flu bug. Santa Claus presented gift to all. The Club's next meeting will be on Jan. 3rd. They meet the first Thursday of every month and would welcome new members. This item from Treasurer Shirley Riley.

It is difficult at this time to lose a family member and the sympathy of the community goes out to the family of Lloyd MacDuff who was a resident of Wilberforce for many years. He was known for his work as Patrol Foreman with the Dept. of Highways. Funeral service took place Dec. 14th with burial at the South Wilberforce Cemetery.

Skeeters Restaurant welcomed a crowd of well-wishers to its formal opening on Wed. Dec. 12th. This little business is off to a good start having recently catered to local club groups and as more and more people are discovering the good food and service. The name Skeeter is from a popular cartoon character. Bests of luck to them for the coming year. A Merry Christmas to all!

HALIBURTON FAMILY VIOLENCE MENS GROUP
For men who physically abuse their partners. In Haliburton, there is a group counselling program to assist men, at no cost to them, in dealing with behaviours that physically, mentally or emotionally hurt the ones they love. This is a confidential service that does not judge or condemn, but helps you and those around you live a less troubled life. For information, referral and support leave a message at 457-1088.

THANK YOU

THANK YOU — To the most wonderfully supportive circle of friends walking lightly on mother earth, we thank you ever so much. Driving Sid to Peterborough Hospital, offers of help, prayers and support
were all felt and appreciated.
A special thank you to Ginny,
Sue and Michael and Dr. K.
Hartwick. Sid and Wendy.

SOMETIMES WE go through life without realizing how many friends we have made along the way. Often, it is only when illness or tragedy strikes, and we become the recipients of your prayers, flowers, memorials, letters,
cards or just plain words of comfort, that we are made aware of the fullness of your love. To all the wonderful people who have been there for us, we say, "Thanks, and may God be with you all!"
Helen & Lloyd Johnson.

IN MEMORIAM

SEDGWICK, ELGIN
DAWSON — In loving memory of our dear Husband, Father, Grandfather and Great grandfather who passed away on December 24, 1989.
There will always be a heartache,
And many a silent tear,
Always precious memories of
the days
When you were here.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout
our lives,
Until we meet again.
Forever loved by wife Clara,
family—Francis, Viola, Ray,
Ross, Norma and Benny and families.

LIFE OF A CHRISTMAS TREE

One bright and sunny day, two weeks before Christmas, I was standing tall with my friends. All of a sudden I heard a CRASH, Band, Band, in the bush. It was people with saws. They walked up to me and put its saw against my trunk and started cutting. It really hurt! All of a sudden I fell over. The people dragged me to a little house in the woods and put a barrel of dirt under me.

The people brought boxes of little red and green balls and hundreds of lights and lots of tinsel. "What is this?" I wondered. They started putting them on me. When they pulled down my branches it felt terrible. After they put all of the decorations on, they placed presents under me. All the people admired my bright costume.

It was hard getting used to a warm atmosphere but I had no choice. A little dog came up and tried to water me but I swung by branch at him. A very tiny cat leaped up and started climbing me. I crashed to the floor. All the people came running out, spanked the cat, picked me up and put me back straight.

On Christmas Eve the children all went to bed and left cookies and milk out for Santa. I couldn't resist so I ate a few cookies and a little slurp of milk. Very quietly the two parents came out and put lots more presents under my branches.

In the morning the kids ran out, opened all the presents, and woke up their parents.

On Christmas day lots of people filled the house and played Christmas carols. After the presents were handed out, the people sat down and ate lots of excellent food.

I was very old so the people took off my decorations and threw me over a bank. Was this any way to treat me after I made their house look so beautiful?

MERRY CHRISTMAS

from Mrs. Dron's Special Ed. Class

Christmas is giving,
Christmas is sharing,
Christmas is loving,
Christmas is caring,
Christmas is family,
Christmas is food,
Christmas is Jesus,
Christmas is good.

MY CHRISTMAS POEM

Kris Jamson, Cardiff School, Grade 4.

Christmas is a special day.
Home for Christmas.
Roof top noises.
It is soon Christmas.
See Santa on the roof.
Tree's are up
Merry Christmas.
A decorated tree.
Scream! Santa's falling through the roof.

Eric Norrish, Cardiff School, Grade 7.

C is for candles that shine so bright
On a cold and clear Christmas night.
H is for helping to decorate the tree
With tinsel and ornaments to see.
R is for reindeer that clack on the roof
Prancing with each little hoof.
I is for the innkeeper, who did not have space
He offered them the stable to stay in good grace.

S is for silent, yes that silent night
When Jesus was born the angels took flight.
T is for toy that sits under the tree.
As the plump old Santa Claus tries to get down
the chimney.

M is for mistletoe that hangs over your head.
You rush by it to avoid being kidded by Ted.
A is for angels that fly high above
Singing Christmas carols with joy and love.
S is for sleep that we tried hard to get

Michael MacIntosh, Cardiff, Gr. 4

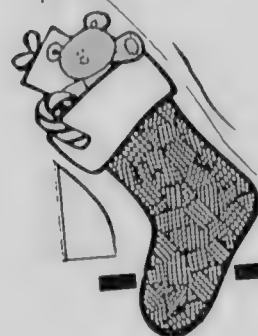

C is for the chimney that Santa comes down
His sock is full of toys and a clown.
H is for holly that hangs on the door
And holidays that we are waiting for.
R is for ribbon on a present for me
Sitting in a corner under the tree.
I is for icicles hanging from my roof
Out of the way of each reindeer's hoof.
S is for snow white as can be.
And the snowman that I made with Lee.
T is for the good time with my family.
Full of fun beside the tree.
M is for Mary that gave birth.
To Jesus the Saviour of the earth.
A is for angel that flies over the manger.
When three kings came that were strangers.
S is for a sleigh ride with a friend.
It is so much fun we wish it wouldn't end.

Dear Santa
I hope your reindeer are okay
I hope you can bring me magicmushy and pooch patrol

CASEY
OGLE

Our thanks to the students of Haliburton and Cardiff for sharing their stories with us.

Jeremy Graham, Cardiff School, Grade 8.

C is for candy canes hanging so high.
And all the gifts you have to buy.
H is for holly hanging so high.
Under it you kiss and then you sigh.
R is for riches the wisemen brought
And the other gifts he had got.
I is for the inns that were full.
All they had was a stable.
S is for the stories we have read
About Christmas before going to bed.
T is for the turkey we are going to eat.
And share with the visitors that we greet.
M is for the manger where he lay.
All filled in with hay.
A is for the angels as they sang a song.
The shepherds heard it and went along.
S is for Santa and his sleigh.
Pulled by his reindeer that eat lots of hay.

C IS FOR...

Eddie Madden, Cardiff School, Grade 7.

C is for the Christ Child born upon this day.
Sleeping quietly in his manger of hay.
H is for the heralds in the night.
Sweetly singing Silent Night.
R is for Redeemer who helps us see the light.
Through the Christ Child born Christmas night.
I is for Israel where the infant was born,
Kings came to worship him on Christmas morn.
S is for the star that shone above,
A small town full of love.
T is for three wisemen they travelled so far.
It was a very long journey as they followed the star.

M is for the manger where he lay.
In his crib of hay.
A is all He stands for.
Giving us hope for evermore.
S means shepherds came a long way.
To worship the Christ Child on Christmas day.

Rachel Bamford, Cardiff School, Grade 8.

C is for cards with greetings so cheery
They lift our spirits when winter is dreary.
H is for humming the tunes of joy.
Carols sung by each girl and boy.
R is for reindeer that pull the sleigh.
That carries the gifts on Christmas day.
T is for ice so shiny and clear.
Slipping and falling on your rear.
S is for Santa a jolly good fellow.
Bringing gifts and eating jello.
T is for tinsel on a tree.
Sparkling like a star where it is free.
M is for merry time we'll enjoy.
Laughing and cheering with each girl and boy.
A is for angel so high above.
Glowing like a star flying like a dove.
S is for snow falling so light.
Getting deeper and deeper during the night.

THE NIGHT JESUS WAS BORN

Katherine Anderson, Cardiff School, Gr. 3.

One day the king said that all had to pay taxes. So every one in the village had to go back to their home land. Mary and Joseph had to travel to Bethlehem. The trip was rough for Mary because she was ready to have a child. When they got to Bethlehem there was no room. They came to a man who had a stable out back so they stayed. The child was born and he was to be king and saviour of all mankind.

SANTA

Santa is part of Christmas.
Presents are part of Christmas.
Decorations are part of Christmas.
Jesus is part of Christmas.
But my favourite part of Christmas is making crafts.

Terra Shaw, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

Editor's Note: This was written by Shirley Hodgson, in 1945, when she was Shirley Hamilton, a high school student. Time does not change the meaning of Christmas.

"CHRISTMAS"

CHRISTMAS HAD BEEN the children's festival of the Christian Year, and this is as it should be, so we do not forget the Child who was born on this day so long ago. He came to teach us the way of prayer, peace and love and His work is still being done throughout the world today, in spite of things as they seem to be. It is not the Christmas season that makes us happy, but the spirit we have in our hearts at this time, the good feeling that comes from thinking of others and doing something for them. All the outer signs of Christmas — the glistening shops, the gaily wrapped packages, the tinsel, the holly and the mistletoe, the jolly Christmas trees, the smiles and warm greetings of friends — are but signs of the inner gifts of love and peace, joy and friendship that we share with one another at Christmas time

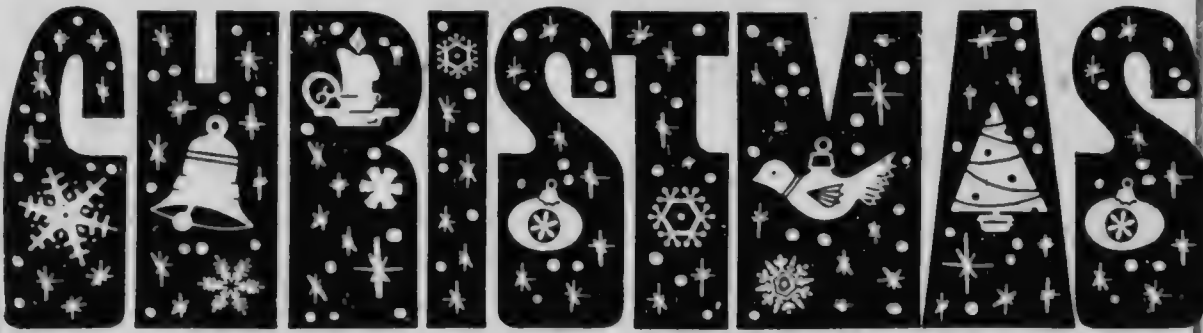

SANTA'S CALLING!

Editor's note: This is a true story that happened last year on Christmas Eve, shared with us by Shirley Hodgson of Haliburton Lake.

WE WERE HAVING SUPPER with our daughter's family in Wilberforce when, suddenly, the phone rang. This phone call was for Curtis Tighe (age 4). Curtis ran to the phone, said "Hello" and then turned to us with a wide eyed expression as he said excitedly. "It is Santa Claus and he wants to talk to me!" Curtis said "What did you call for?" Santa said "I just called to ask you what you asked me to bring you for Christmas?" Curtis sounded a little disgusted (Thinking Santa should have remembered). "Well, I only want two things: a back-hoe digger and a hockey game." Santa said, "that is just fine, we will see what we will do." They talked for a few moments. Then we heard Curtis say "What do you want for Christmas Santa Claus?" "Well, there was dead silence for a few moments, then Santa said, "Oh, I just want a few Carrots for my reindeer." Curtis's Mother said "We have lots of carrots." Santa and Curtis talked for a few moments more then they said Goodbye. Curtis came back to the table very excited and said "It was the real Santa you know. And now I am just too "incited" to eat."

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: On Thursday night, both the staff and the residents of Extencicare had the opportunity to break bread together in honour of Christmas. The annual Christmas dinner is an opportunity to get to know each other on a personal basis. Here, nurse Marilyn Mighton and resident May Fairey share the stories which make such feasts come to life for all involved.

CAROLS

C is for carols we sing in the church.
H is for happiness in doing fun things.
R is for reindeer playing in snow.
I is for icicles hanging on the roof.
S is for snow falling softly.
T is for treats that are yummy.
M is for manger where the baby is sleeping.
A is for Advent bright
S is for Santa Claus going in his sled.

Sarah Burk, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

CHRISTMAS IS LOVE

Christmas is love.
Christmas is Jesus.
Christmas is joy.
Christmas is books.
Christmas is an elf.
Christmas is reindeer.
Christmas is baby Jesus.
Christmas is a green tree.
And Christmas is a sleigh.

April Wells, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

CHURCH

C is for church.
H is for harmony.
R is for Rudolph.
I is for ice.
S is for Santa.
T is for thanks.
M is for Mary.
A is for animals.
S is for stocking.

Denise Russell, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

PART OF CHRISTMAS

Jesus is part of Christmas.
Gingerbread is part of Christmas.
Reindeer are part of Christmas.
Bells are part of Christmas.
Snow is part of Christmas.
Decorations are part of Christmas.
BUT my favourite part of Christmas is SANTA CLAUS.

Bryan Burke, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

THE TREE

Christmas is a time for loving.
Christmas is a time to bring in the Christmas tree.
Christmas is a time when Jesus was born.
Christmas is fun because we get presents.

Kelly Dawson, Victoria Street School, Gr. 2.

POEMS OF CHRISTMAS

C is for the care that little children bear.
H is for a holly, which makes us bright and jolly.
R is for Rudolph
I is for an icicle, which is half the fun of a tricycle.
S is for Santa, who comes to children like Alanta.
T is for our Christmas tree, that we love to decorate with glee.
M is for the mice, which are made from white rice.
A is for the tooth ache, that we get from eating candy that we bake.
S is for a red seat, that is all so neat.

THE SCARED SNOWFLAKE

I was brought up by a white and fluffy cloud. I grew from a little raindrop to a big and fluffy snowflake. Then came the time that the whole cloud was too crowded. The head snowflake had a meeting and they decided that some snowflakes would have to go to the Earth. They chose my friends and I. Everyone was pleased that I got chosen but not me. I was scared. I wanted to go bury myself in the cloud. It wasn't that I was scared of the Earth or anything on it, I was scared of the ride down to the Earth. I was very scared. All my other friends were happy but not me. All my friends were telling me how much fun it would be. I got a little bit braver. I went to bed that night in my little bed and said to myself, "Tomorrow is the day. Don't worry. When I get there I will be played in and it will be fun." Then I fell asleep. I had a dream of how much fun it would be to be made into a snowman or snowball or even a snowbase. Then I had a bad thought. What if someone skied or tobogganed or snowmobiled or drove over me? I woke up with a scare. It was morning. I was eating my breakfast when my friend came in. "We have to meet with the head snowflake at the cloud park in an hour," he said "Then what?" I asked. "Then we get transferred to earth." I ate my breakfast and set off for the cloud park. I felt as if there were a butterfly in my stomach. When we got there I was greeted by all my friends. Then the head snowflake came over the loud speaker. "May I have your attention please?" he asked. "As you know we are gathered here to send those we chose the other day, to the Earth to fill it with snow. Now follow me to the middle of the cloud." I whispered to my friend, "Where is the middle of the cloud?" "I don't know," he replied. We walked and walked and walked, I was getting tired of walking. We finally got there. "Everyone chosen come to me one at a time and we'll jump." "Jump?" I said scared as ever. When it was my turn I walked up to the head snowflake. "I am scared," I said. "Scared of what?" he inquired. "I don't know," I answered. "Well," he said "Don't be afraid. When you get there you will be as happy as ever." "Thank-You" I answered. "Jump," he replied. So I jumped. When I got there everyone cheered. I was happy when I landed on a soft white layer of snow and I have been happy ever since. "I hope it stays cold."

Happy shopping for Christmas folks.

Last Thursday was Tea Party as usual. The ladies of Minden Curling Club provided the tea and served it. They were Margaret Harrison, Shirley Colliss, and Katie Parker. It was served from the tuck shop to the dining room and was delicious. The residents thank them heartily.

In the evening Marg Prentice was with us and called the bingo. She is a very good caller and we thank her sincerely.

Friday afternoon there was Happy Hour. The volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden, and Bonnie Fullan. They ably took care of everyone. Thank you very much. The entertainment was music played by Stan Griffith, Bob Ferguson and Doris where needed.

Saturday afternoon we were entertained by the Stepping Good Time Cloggers from Oshawa. This group was here in the Spring and said they would come again. The ladies wear white dresses trimmed with red and very full skirts. The men form different figures as they go around to music. Organizer and leader of the show was Sherie Gagnon. I did get a few of their names but not all of them. There were eight dancers. Some of the tunes were, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town", "Foot Prints in the Snow", and "Winter Wonderland". Curtis Gartshore and John form West Guilford were dancers and Sherie Gagnon's husband ran the tape recorders.

Mary Smith had the misfortune to fall and cut her forehead. We hope you are better soon, Mary.

Rev. John Burgess conducted the Sunday night service and Alice Jones played the organ. The service was instructive and comforting and we thank both Rev. Burgess and Alice.

Monday Evelyn Coleman came for bible study. We learned about Mary and Martha who were so different in what they did, yet finally they were working for the same purpose. Thank you Evelyn.

Tuesday afternoon we had a games period of euchre and croquinoie. A volunteer was placed at each table with three residents. The volunteers were Jean Sears, Freda Hulbig, Carrie Drysdale, Helen Skelding and Mable Deacon. We had a pleasant time and thank the volunteers sincerely.

Tuesday evening the Minden 1st Brownies, Girl Guides and Pathfinders came to the Hyland Crest auditorium. While the Guides and Brownies entertained us with a Christmas program the Pathfinders went to the bed care wing singing carols. The leaders of each group are Faith Aggett, Kathe Belcher,

Marlene Munro, Sue Hill and Debbie Mansfield. The Guides and Brownies program contained group carol singing. Following the concert we moved to the dining room the Pathfinders served us with a beautiful lunch. The younger children went home when they were finished. We enjoyed the evening with the children and thank everyone very much.

Wednesday evening Earl Cooper and Kathy Owens were here for a lovely evening of music.

Simple Xmas filled with love

by: WINNIE SCHOFIELD

There are a few people who will remember Christmas in Wilberforce before 1920. The highlight of the season was the Christmas concert held the Orange Hall. The Hall contained a large room, heated by a wood stove and a large stage at one end that could be closed off with curtains. Entertainment was scarce in those years and radio had not yet arrived. However there was plenty of talent provided by the forty pupils and teacher from the one room school. The children put on skits, recited poems and sang to Christmas music. All seats in the hall were filled for this occasion, with everyone paying 25 cents admission at the door. Money raised was used to buy sports equipment for the pupils. One year it was sufficient to purchase nine toboggans to be used by young and old. Adults made use of these in the evenings and had a glorious time sailing down a very steep hill in an area that is now covered with trees.

Christmas was simple in those days, presents hand made and given with love. Goodwill toward neighbours brought families together.

Monmouth Senior Citizens held their annual Christmas dinner on Wednesday Dec. 12th at the Lloyd Watson Centre. Close to a hundred people enjoyed an excellent turkey dinner. They were later entertained by the Hughes family consisting of six handsome, talented boys and their parents, who presented Christmas music and slides for an appreciative audience.

Eleven members of Branch 624 Ladies Auxiliary attended a Christmas dinner party at the Skeeters Restaurant and had a most enjoyable time. It was unfortunate that their President Fry Shosenberg was unable to attend after suffering from a flu bug. Santa Claus presented gift to all. The Club's next meeting will be on Jan. 3rd. They meet the first Thursday of every month and would welcome new members. This item from Treasurer Shirley Riley.

It is difficult at this time to lose a family member and the sympathy of the community goes out to the family of Lloyd MacDuff who was a resident of Wilberforce for many years. He was known for his work as Patrol Foreman with the Dept. of Highways. Funeral service took place Dec. 14th with burial at the South Wilberforce Cemetery.

Skeeters Restaurant welcomed a crowd of well-wishers to its formal opening on Wed. Dec. 12th. This little business is off to a good start having recently catered to local club groups and as more people are discovering the good food and service. The name Skeeter is from a popular cartoon character. Bests of luck to the coming year. A Merry Christmas to all!

HALIBURTON FAMILY VIOLENCE MENS GROUP
For men who physically abuse their partners. In Haliburton, there is a group counselling program to assist men, at no cost to them, in dealing with behaviours that physically, mentally or emotionally hurt the ones they love. This is a confidential service that does not judge or condemn, but helps you and those around you live a less troubled life. For information, referral and support leave a message at 457-1088.

THANK YOU

THANK YOU — To the most wonderfully supportive circle
of friends walking lightly on mother earth, we thank you ever so much. Driving Sid to Peterborough Hospital, offers
of help, prayers and support
were all felt and appreciated.
A special thank you to Ginnie,
Sue and Michael and Dr. K.
Hartwick. Sid and Wendy.

SOMETIMES WE go through life without realizing how
many friends we have made along the way. Often, it is only when illness or tragedy strikes, and we become the recipients of our prayers,
flowers, memorials, letters,
cards or just plain words of
comfort, that we are made aware of the fullness of your love. To all the wonderful people who have been there for us, we say, "Thanks, and
Helen & Lloyd Johnson.

IN MEMORIAM

SEDGWICK, ELGIN
DAWSON — In loving memory of our dear Husband, Father, Grandfather
and Great grandfather who passed away on December 24, 1989.
There will always be a hear-
tache,
And many a silent tear,
Always precious memories of
the days
When you were here.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout
our lives,
Until we meet again.
Forever loved by wife Clara,
family—Francis, Viola, Ray,
Ross, Norma and Benny and families.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING memory of my daughter, who passed away
December 21, 1988. JESSIE-KATHLEEN WAY.
You left us quietly,
Your thoughts unknown,
But left us a memory
We are proud to own
So treasure her Lord,
In your Garden of rest;
For when on earth,
She was one of the best
Greatly missed by her mom.
